Argentine Army Generals Revolt

War Secretary Quits In Effort To Solve Crisis

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina's war secretary resigned Wednesday night after an open rebellion of army chiefs threatened new difficulties for the shaky government of President Jose Maria Guido.

Brig. Gen. Juan Bautista Loza told a group of high army officers his resignation from his dual post of secretary and army commander in chief was the only way to resolve the situation.

The resignation climaxed a day of military upheavel which began when one ranking army leader, Maj. Gen. Federico Toranzo Montero, set up a rebel command post in northern Argentina and called on Loza to quit.

Rebels Charge One-Man Rule

Loza branded Toranzo Montero an outlaw, but within a few hours four generals had rallied to the rebel's side.

The rebel leaders accused Loza, a stern-faced crusty career soldier, of wielding iron-fisted one-man rule over the army.

The upheaval in the military hierarchy caused consternation in the Guido government, placed in power by the army last March after a bloodless coup that ousted President Arturo Frondizi, still in custody on an island in the River Plate.

During the confused military maneuvers, a score of army officers were arrested.

Loza Supporters Seized

Commanders of garrisons supporting Toranzo Montero locked up officers suspected of siding with Loza while Loza, from his War Ministry headquarters, fired key commanders believed to harbor opposition to him.

Guido was in constant conference with his ministers and military chief, among then Economy Minister Alvaro Carlos Alsogaray, just returned from an aid-seeking mission to the United States.

Toranzo Montero drove from his Salta headquarters to the remote city of Jujuy, 800 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, and proclaimed himself the army commander in chief.

EXECUTED — Mrs. Elizabeth Ann (Ma) Duncan, (above), 58, died yesterday in San Quentin's gas chamber for the hired murder of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Olga Duncan, 30. (AP Photofax)

"Ma" Duncan, Hired Killers Put To Death

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Elizabeth Ann (Ma) Duncan and the two killers she hired to murder her son's pregnant bride died Wednesday in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber.

The buxom 58-year-old matron who plotted the 1958 slaying to keep her youngest son for herself was executed first—shortly after 10 a.m.

Luis Moya, 23, and Augustine Baldonado, 28, who were paid $360 for killing Olga Duncan, 30, a Canadian-born nurse, died together in the afternoon, shortly after 1 p.m.

Thus ended the tragedy of a classically grotesque mother love which could tolerate no rivals and no sharing of affection with another woman.

Ma Duncan, her lips tightly closed to conceal the absence of her false teeth, entered the green chamber with trembling steps and died quietly without once turning her head to look at the 57 witnesses.

The pellets were dropped at 10:04 a.m. and she was pronounced dead at 10:12.

In contrast, Baldonado and Moya were in animated conversation when their pellets were dropped at 1:05½ p.m. Baldonado entered smiling. He talked and waved to his half-brother, Daniel Ledesma, 35, of Port Hueneme, and his brother-in-law, Lawrence Roman, of Oxnard, Calif.

Baldonado's final mouthed words were, "It's all right."

Moya was pronounced dead at 1:14 p.m. and Baldonado at 1:15.

Mrs. Duncan, her gray hair drawn into a bun, died silently, but her last words to the warden were a vain request to see her beloved son, Frank, and a denial that she caused Olga's murder.

She had a mild sedative Tuesday but was refused a last-minute request for another before entering the chamber.

Rusk Spells Out Test Ban Plan To Soviet

Secretary Pushes Proposals In Talk With Russ Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk called in Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin on Wednesday to stress the new U.S. proposals for an East-West treaty to outlaw atomic weapons tests.

At a 1¼-hour meeting in Rusk's office, the secretary also ranged over the general disarmament issue. The German dispute, aides reported, was touched on only briefly in a minor way.

The session, which coincided with Ambassador Arthur Dean's outlining the U.S. position to the 17-nation disarmament conference at Geneva, was described as an effort by Rusk to impart some forward impetus to the Geneva talks through an additional diplomatic approach to the Kremlin.

More Talks Expected

The meeting also served to keep going the U.S.-Soviet dialogue on major East-West issues. Rusk, who went over these questions with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko during the Laos conference windup at Geneva last month, is expected to talk with Dobrynin further about the Berlin dispute.

Rusk was said to have spelled out to the Soviet envoy the new, scaled-down U.S. nuclear test ban terms resulting from recent scientific findings showing detection of underground explosions is easier than previously thought.

Negotiable Question

The United States is not specifying yet just how few control posts and inspections inside the Soviet Union it would deem necessary for safeguards against cheating. Its position is that this is a matter which can be negotiated once the Reds agree to the principle of checks inside Soviet territory.

The chief Soviet delegate at Geneva, Valerian A. Zorin, has indicated Moscow still opposes on-site inspections which the West says remain necessary. But Washington officials expressed hope that the Kremlin would come through with a new set of instructions modifying Zorin's stand.

"Rocky" Sees U.S. Yielding

NEW YORK (AP)—Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller accused the Kennedy administration Wednesday of having "moved steadily toward the Soviet position" on nuclear weapons testing and control.

He detailed changes in the U.S. position since President Kennedy took office, referred to reports that a new U.S. proposal embodying concessions is contemplated, and said: "In short, weakening the proposals of March 1961, by the Kennedy administration even further seems to me to run a high risk of endangering our national security."

The attack by Rockefeller, a candidate for re-election this November and regarded as a possible Republican presidential contender in 1964, was contained in a prepared statement.

Rockefeller said he was "compelled by conscience and a sense of responsibility" to speak out because of two developments:

1. Soviet resumption of nuclear tests this month.

2. Completion of the U.S. nuclear test series except for two or three high-altitude tests in which equipment failed.

Unions Open Last-Ditch Court Fight

Order Blocking Rule Changes Is Refused But Appeal Planned

CHICAGO (AP)—A major 2½-year railroad-labor struggle with vast implications for the nation's economy surged through a near-showdown court phase Wednesday.

Five unions, representing 200,000 crewmen who run the trains, were to go to a federal appeals court in a second try to block sweeping economy work rules which the railroads have adopted, effective Aug. 16—a week from Thursday.

Judge Joseph Sam Perry dismissed the U.S. District Court suit by the unions asking a declaratory judgment barring the rules changes. An emergency appeal was to be taken to the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

40,000 Firemen Face Job Loss

The rules, first proposed by the carriers Nov. 2, 1959, could lop 40,000 firemen—those who work on switching and freight diesel locomotives—from the payrolls. They also include provisions to get more work out of train crews, prescribing longer runs for a day's work and generally eliminating overlapping of work assignments.

Looming beyond the courtroom stage is the possibility of a nationwide walkout of the workers—the firemen, trainmen, engineers, conductors and switchmen—if the railroads stick to their announced intention of tightening up work rules drastically.

Such a strike will come automatically with the rules changes, the union leaders said Wednesday after a conference in Washington.

Strike Instructions Issued

Members of the unions received their joint strike instructions several days ago, telling them "how to conduct themselves in the event a strike is forced upon them by the railroads," the labor leaders said.

But a stoppage earlier than mid-October appeared unlikely. With the sounding of a strike call—or, in its absence, the clear certainty of a walkout—President Kennedy could invoke the Railway Labor Act to cause postponement for 60 days.

A White House spokesman said the strike threat is under constant observation from there, although not officially. The President's move would be naming of a fact-find board to study the dispute and report to him its substance within 60 days.

Justice Dept. Backs Albany Negroes' Plea

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI)—The Justice Department Wednesday joined Negroes in asking a federal court here to protect their right to protest racial discrimination and immediately set off protests from city officials.

The Justice Department brief was filed at a hearing on the city's plea for a court order to bar Negro demonstrations which it claims could lead to violence.

City officials called the intervention an attempt to block "civilized efforts at racial solutions."

"This is an affront to those of us in the South who are prepared to stand fast for law and order," Mayor Asa D. Kelley said.

"This revolutionary policy of the Justice Department may write off civilized efforts at racial solutions in courts of law in countless Southern communities."

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader who is in jail awaiting trial for participating in anti-segregation demonstrations, issued a statement from his cell saying he was "very definitely pleased."

The Justice Department brief argued that city officials should not be allowed to stifle Negro attempts to peacefully protest denials of their constitutional rights.

The two-week court hearing ended Wednesday, but Judge Robert J. Elliott did not indicate when he might give a ruling.

Shortly before the proceedings ended, a Negro attorney read into the court records the names of 15 persons he said were victims of "police brutality" here.

Judge J. Robert Elliott permitted the names to supplement the record in a hearing he is conducting on the city's request for an injunction barring further segregation protest demonstrations.

Three Crewmen Die In Air Tanker Crash

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI) — All three crewmen aboard perished Wednesday when a KC 135 Stratotanker crashed and burned in a woods here.

The big plane went down a few hundred yards short of a runway at L. G. Hanscom Field in nearby Bedford. It burst into flames on impact, the Air Force reported.

Officials said the plane was en route to Hanscom from the Wright Patterson Air Force base near Dayton, Ohio. The plane was part of the aeronautical systems division at Wright Patterson.

Red China Offers $28,000 For U.S. U2

TOKYO (AP) — Red China has offered Nationalist Chinese pilots on Formosa 8,000 ounces of gold—about $28,000—to deliver an American U2 plane to the mainland.

The Communists have repeatedly claimed the United States has equipped President Chiang Kai-shek's air force with the spy planes, but there has never been any confirmation.

Marilyn Entombed After Farewell Kiss From Joe DiMaggio

Weeping Ex-Mate Murmurs 'I Love You'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fabled Marilyn Monroe, for a decade the moves' sex symbol, was entombed Wednesday after a final kiss and an "I love you, I love you, I love you" from ex-husband Joe DiMaggio.

The onetime star slugger for the New York Yankees, second of the famed blonde's three husbands, was the last mourner to leave the chapel before her coffin was sealed.

He bent over, kissed her on the forehead, murmured his endearment, then strode out as an attendant closed the carved bronze casket and wheeled it into a hearse. It was driven 125 yards and placed in a crypt in a pink marble wall at Westwood Memorial Park's "Corridor of Memories."

Dimaggio walked stolidly after the hearse. At his side, erect in a Marine Corps dress uniform was his son, Joe Jr.

DiMaggio, who spent 12 hours at the mortuary Tuesday and 5½ hours there before the funeral Wednesday, was in tears as he left the chapel after a simple, dignified service for a select group of friends.

"He was alone with her many times," said a mortuary source. "He was a man obviously bereaved, a man still very much in love with her."

Friends have said that DiMaggio was the number one man in Miss Monroe's life. They remained friends after their divorce and were often together in the weeks before her death last Saturday of an overdose of drugs.

A crowd of 1,000 curiously flocked to the park in West Los Angeles, just a mile from 20th Century-Fox studio where Marilyn soared to fame. But more than 100 officers kept them outside the park's surrounding wall.

Compared with the circus atmosphere at funerals of past Hollywood greats, it was a subdued affair.

Not a single star was invited, and none showed up, which irked some of Miss Monroe's long-time movieland friends.

The list of about 30 invitees was prepared by DiMaggio, Miss Monroe's business manager and her half-sister. They explained that if they invited one star, they would have to invite many, and to have a big crowd would mean abandoning the simple rites they felt Miss Monroe would have wanted.

Broadway drama coach Lee Strasberg, Marilyn's old friend and mentor, delivered the eulogy, calling her a legendary figure.

"In her lifetime she created a myth of what a poor girl from a deprived background could attain. For the entire world she became a symbol of the eternal feminine.

"She was a warm human being, impulsive and shy, sensitive and in fear of rejection, yet ever avid for life and reaching out for fulfillment.

"It is difficult to accept the fact that her zest for life has been ended by this dreadful accident."

Authorities still are investigating to determine whether the death was accidental or suicide.

Ike Has Lunch With De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower lunched Wednesday with his World War II comrade, French President Charles de Gaulle, and remarked afterward the visit was "marvelous and pleasant."

De Gaulle came out on the steps of the luxurious Elysee Palace to greet Eisenhower in French as "dear friend."

Eisenhower brought along his grandson, David, 14, and De Gaulle turned to him and asked him in English—rare for De Gaulle—"How are you?"

Eisenhower wore the rosette of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor in the lapel of his navy blue suit.

As brilliantly uniformed guards stood at attention, De Gaulle and Eisenhower—both 71—walked into De Gaulle's private apartments for lunch.

They were joined by a small group of officials, including James Gavin, U.S. ambassador to Paris; and Herve Alphand, French ambassador to Washington.

U.S. Proposes Cut In Test Ban Control Posts

GENEVA (AP) — The United States offered Wednesday to slash by more than half the number of detection posts for enforcing a nuclear test ban treaty—a plan already snubbed by the Soviet Union.

Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. delegate, told the 17-nation disarmament conference he will formally present the entire compromise plan next week. He ignored statements by the Russians on Monday, and amplified Wednesday, opposing the new propoals.

Dean told the delegates the new Western plan proposes to reduce the number of control posts to something like 80. That means a reduction of more than half."

The Soviet Union has backed out on agreements they made several years ago with the United States and Britain that a worldwide system of 180 detection stations would be sufficient to police a test ban treaty.

Moscow's position has hardened since and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin declared again Wednesday that a test ban must be based on a neutralist proposal calling for on-site inspections only by invitation.

American scientists connected with the problem of detecting nuclear tests will fly here next weekend in an attempt to win over other delegations, especially those from the neutral bloc, to the Westeran compromise proposal. The U.S. plan for reducing the number of inspection posts is based on new and better scientific methods of detecting nuclear explosions.

Ambassador Arthur Lall of India told the conference that on the basis of Western newspaper reports, new detection methods rule out the necessity of on-site inspections.

Dean retorted that it is wise to exercise caution with respect to stories about advances in detection and identification.

Zorin made no comment on the U.S. offer.

Priest's Slayer Killed By Mob

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—A young missionary priest from Troy, N.Y., who protested against the conduct at a saloon, was shot dead in the patio of his parish house at Montero in central Bolivia Tuesday night. Over the protests of other priests, a mob then lynched his killer.

The Maryknoll Fathers said the Rev. William C. Kruegler, 32, had gone to the saloon about 100 yards from the church. There he asked the bar man, Manglio Saravia, to stop selling drinks to minors and to hold down the bar noises.

Father Kruegler also complained to police.

The fathers said that Saravia, intoxicated, sought out the priest in the patio and shot him five times. One bullet struck him in the heart, others hit a shoulder and his neck.

A fellow Roman Catholic priest gave him the last rites.

A crowd gathered at the parish house of Our Lady of Mercy Church and, ignoring the fathers' protests, dragged Saravia through the streets to the village plaza and hanged him.

EAL, Engineers Break Off Talks

MIAMI (UPI) —Eastern Air Lines and its striking flight engineers union rejected each other's offers Wednesday and broke off further talks.

The company announced it was going ahead with plans to begin gradual restoration of service Thursday and would negotiate with the flight engineers on an individual basis if the union fails to accept a final proposal by noon Friday.

As Wednesday's hour-long meeting began, representatives of the Flight Engineers International Association (FEIA) handed company officials a formal rejection of an offer made by Eastern Tuesday to sign a contract with the engineers covering piston engine aircraft.

The union officials asked Eastern to accept Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg's last proposal to settle the strike. But company officials turned the Goldberg plan down again, union representatives said.

Soviet Nuclear Blast

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Russia pushed on with its new atomic test series by setting off a small nuclear blast in the air over Siberia Tuesday, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced Saturday.

JFK Economic Adviser Says Tax Slash Needed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Walter W. Heller, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers, told Congress Wednesday the nation's unsatisfactory economic performance over the past five years made it reasonably clear a tax cut was needed.

But he reiterated that the President had not decided whether to ask for a reduction now to give the economy a quick shot in the arm or to stick by his announced intention to make the request next year.

In what was believed to be the first such public statement by an administration official, Heller also said a tax cut would have to be accompanied by a willingness to move toward higher interest rates as a brake on inflation and the outflow of American gold.

Heller's statement on the President's tax cut study was followed by a similar declaration from the White House.

Acting Press Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher denied a report that Kennedy had told labor leaders he had abandoned the idea of an immediate tax cut.

Hatcher said the Chief Executive would await statistics on the economy's performance during July, some expected Friday and the others next week, before making his decision.

Some figures already available indicate the economy just about held its own in July. Unemployment dipped slightly. Retail sales picked up a little. Industrial activity may have increased a little, perhaps showed no significant change.

Jackie Rests At Italian Villa; Caroline At Beach

RAVELLO, Italy (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy started her two-week vacation here by resting in her shady villa Wednesday. But 4-year-old daughter Caroline rushed off to the beach in a flowered, two-piece baby bikini.

It was little Caroline's first trip abroad and she was living it up from the first moments.

But while the President's wife did as the Italians do and rested after lunch, Caroline was off for her first European swim in the azure waters of the Mediterranean. With two young cousins and an Irish nurse, she set out for the beach less than two hours after arriving.

The cousins were Anne Katherine Radziwill, 3, and Anthony, 2, the children of Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, of London. The princess and her husband, Prince Stanislaus, are the hosts of Mrs. Kennedy and Caroline at the 11th century Villa Episcopio.

The party had the word of the independent Rome newspaper Il Temp that Mrs. Kennedy need not be alarmed by reports two weeks ago of sharks in adjacent waters.

"The sharks have never eaten anyone in Ravello," it said.

But for scrupulous honesty, Il Temp said, "We must put La Signora Kennedy on guard against another danger"—Italian wolves.

"Italian men have always had the habit of giving somewhat audacious compliments to beautiful foreigners," it said. "It is a habit deplorable, but completely innocent, and not a few queens have been victims. Before a beautiful woman they are absolutely incapable of containing their expressions of admiration."

Britain Extends Soblen Deadline

LONDON (UPI) — Israel's unyielding refusal to allow one of its planes to return Dr. Robert Soblen to the United States gave the convicted Soviet spy another delay Wednesday in his fight against a life sentence in a U. S. prison.

The British Home Office extended until Friday midnight its deadline for the Israeli El Al Airline to fly the 61-year-old psychiatrist to New York.

(But informed sources in Jerusalem said the Israeli government stands firm on its refusal to have El Al involved in any way in the return of Soblen to the United States.)

Shortly before the proceedings ended, a Negro attorney read into the court records the names of 15 persons he said were victims of "police brutality" here.

Judge J. Robert Elliott permitted the names to supplement the record in a hearing he is conducting on the city's request for an injunction barring further segregation protest demonstrations.

Three Crewmen Die In Air Tanker Crash

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI) — All three crewmen aboard perished Wednesday when a KC 135 Stratotanker crashed and burned in a woods here.

The big plane went down a few hundred yards short of a runway at L. G. Hanscom Field in nearby Bedford. It burst into flames on impact, the Air Force reported.

Officials said the plane was en route to Hanscom from the Wright Patterson Air Force base near Dayton, Ohio. The plane was part of the aeronautical systems division at Wright Patterson.

Red China Offers $28,000 For U.S. U2

TOKYO (AP) — Red China has offered Nationalist Chinese pilots on Formosa 8,000 ounces of gold—about $28,000—to deliver an American U2 plane to the mainland.

The Communists have repeatedly claimed the United States has equipped President Chiang Kai-shek's air force with the spy planes, but there has never been any confirmation.

Marilyn Entombed After Farewell Kiss From Joe DiMaggio

Weeping Ex-Mate Murmurs 'I Love You'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fabled Marilyn Monroe, for a decade the moves' sex symbol, was entombed Wednesday after a final kiss and an "I love you, I love you, I love you" from ex-husband Joe DiMaggio.

The onetime star slugger for the New York Yankees, second of the famed blonde's three husbands, was the last mourner to leave the chapel before her coffin was sealed.

He bent over, kissed her on the forehead, murmured his endearment, then strode out as an attendant closed the carved bronze casket and wheeled it into a hearse. It was driven 125 yards and placed in a crypt in a pink marble wall at Westwood Memorial Park's "Corridor of Memories."

Dimaggio walked stolidly after the hearse. At his side, erect in a Marine Corps dress uniform was his son, Joe Jr.

DiMaggio, who spent 12 hours at the mortuary Tuesday and 5½ hours there before the funeral Wednesday, was in tears as he left the chapel after a simple, dignified service for a select group of friends.

"He was alone with her many times," said a mortuary source. "He was a man obviously bereaved, a man still very much in love with her."

Friends have said that DiMaggio was the number one man in Miss Monroe's life. They remained friends after their divorce and were often together in the weeks before her death last Saturday of an overdose of drugs.

A crowd of 1,000 curiously flocked to the park in West Los Angeles, just a mile from 20th Century-Fox studio where Marilyn soared to fame. But more than 100 officers kept them outside the park's surrounding wall.

Compared with the circus atmosphere at funerals of past Hollywood greats, it was a subdued affair.

Not a single star was invited, and none showed up, which irked some of Miss Monroe's long-time movieland friends.

The list of about 30 invitees was prepared by DiMaggio, Miss Monroe's business manager and her half-sister. They explained that if they invited one star, they would have to invite many, and to have a big crowd would mean abandoning the simple rites they felt Miss Monroe would have wanted.

Broadway drama coach Lee Strasberg, Marilyn's old friend and mentor, delivered the eulogy, calling her a legendary figure.

"In her lifetime she created a myth of what a poor girl from a deprived background could attain. For the entire world she became a symbol of the eternal feminine.

"She was a warm human being, impulsive and shy, sensitive and in fear of rejection, yet ever avid for life and reaching out for fulfillment.

"It is difficult to accept the fact that her zest for life has been ended by this dreadful accident."

Authorities still are investigating to determine whether the death was accidental or suicide.

Ike Has Lunch With De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower lunched Wednesday with his World War II comrade, French President Charles de Gaulle, and remarked afterward the visit was "marvelous and pleasant."

De Gaulle came out on the steps of the luxurious Elysee Palace to greet Eisenhower in French as "dear friend."

Eisenhower brought along his grandson, David, 14, and De Gaulle turned to him and asked him in English—rare for De Gaulle—"How are you?"

Eisenhower wore the rosette of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor in the lapel of his navy blue suit.

As brilliantly uniformed guards stood at attention, De Gaulle and Eisenhower—both 71—walked into De Gaulle's private apartments for lunch.

They were joined by a small group of officials, including James Gavin, U.S. ambassador to Paris; and Herve Alphand, French ambassador to Washington.

U.S. Proposes Cut In Test Ban Control Posts

GENEVA (AP) — The United States offered Wednesday to slash by more than half the number of detection posts for enforcing a nuclear test ban treaty—a plan already snubbed by the Soviet Union.

Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. delegate, told the 17-nation disarmament conference he will formally present the entire compromise plan next week. He ignored statements by the Russians on Monday, and amplified Wednesday, opposing the new propoals.

Dean told the delegates the new Western plan proposes to reduce the number of control posts to something like 80. That means a reduction of more than half."

The Soviet Union has backed out on agreements they made several years ago with the United States and Britain that a worldwide system of 180 detection stations would be sufficient to police a test ban treaty.

Moscow's position has hardened since and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin declared again Wednesday that a test ban must be based on a neutralist proposal calling for on-site inspections only by invitation.

American scientists connected with the problem of detecting nuclear tests will fly here next weekend in an attempt to win over other delegations, especially those from the neutral bloc, to the Westeran compromise proposal. The U.S. plan for reducing the number of inspection posts is based on new and better scientific methods of detecting nuclear explosions.

Ambassador Arthur Lall of India told the conference that on the basis of Western newspaper reports, new detection methods rule out the necessity of on-site inspections.

Dean retorted that it is wise to exercise caution with respect to stories about advances in detection and identification.

Jackie Rests At Italian Villa; Caroline At Beach

RAVELLO, Italy (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy started her two-week vacation here by resting in her shady villa Wednesday. But 4-year-old daughter Caroline rushed off to the beach in a flowered, two-piece baby bikini.

It was little Caroline's first trip abroad and she was living it up from the first moments.

But while the President's wife did as the Italians do and rested after lunch, Caroline was off for her first European swim in the azure waters of the Mediterranean. With two young cousins and an Irish nurse, she set out for the beach less than two hours after arriving.

The cousins were Anne Katherine Radziwill, 3, and Anthony, 2, the children of Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, of London. The princess and her husband, Prince Stanislaus, are the hosts of Mrs. Kennedy and Caroline at the 11th century Villa Episcopio.

The party had the word of the independent Rome newspaper Il Temp that Mrs. Kennedy need not be alarmed by reports two weeks ago of sharks in adjacent waters.

"The sharks have never eaten anyone in Ravello," it said.

But for scrupulous honesty, Il Temp said, "We must put La Signora Kennedy on guard against another danger"—Italian wolves.

"Italian men have always had the habit of giving somewhat audacious compliments to beautiful foreigners," it said. "It is a habit deplorable, but completely innocent, and not a few queens have been victims. Before a beautiful woman they are absolutely incapable of containing their expressions of admiration."

Unions Open Last-Ditch Court Fight

Order Blocking Rule Changes Is Refused But Appeal Planned

CHICAGO (AP)—A major 2½-year railroad-labor struggle with vast implications for the nation's economy surged through a near-showdown court phase Wednesday.

Five unions, representing 200,000 crewmen who run the trains, were to go to a federal appeals court in a second try to block sweeping economy work rules which the railroads have adopted, effective Aug. 16—a week from Thursday.

Judge Joseph Sam Perry dismissed the U.S. District Court suit by the unions asking a declaratory judgment barring the rules changes. An emergency appeal was to be taken to the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

40,000 Firemen Face Job Loss

The rules, first proposed by the carriers Nov. 2, 1959, could lop 40,000 firemen—those who work on switching and freight diesel locomotives—from the payrolls. They also include provisions to get more work out of train crews, prescribing longer runs for a day's work and generally eliminating overlapping of work assignments.

Looming beyond the courtroom stage is the possibility of a nationwide walkout of the workers—the firemen, trainmen, engineers, conductors and switchmen—if the railroads stick to their announced intention of tightening up work rules drastically.

Such a strike will come automatically with the rules changes, the union leaders said Wednesday after a conference in Washington.

Strike Instructions Issued

Members of the unions received their joint strike instructions several days ago, telling them "how to conduct themselves in the event a strike is forced upon them by the railroads," the labor leaders said.

But a stoppage earlier than mid-October appeared unlikely. With the sounding of a strike call—or, in its absence, the clear certainty of a walkout—President Kennedy could invoke the Railway Labor Act to cause postponement for 60 days.

A White House spokesman said the strike threat is under constant observation from there, although not officially. The President's move would be naming of a fact-find board to study the dispute and report to him its substance within 60 days.

Priest's Slayer Killed By Mob

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—A young missionary priest from Troy, N.Y., who protested against the conduct at a saloon, was shot dead in the patio of his parish house at Montero in central Bolivia Tuesday night. Over the protests of other priests, a mob then lynched his killer.

The Maryknoll Fathers said the Rev. William C. Kruegler, 32, had gone to the saloon about 100 yards from the church. There he asked the bar man, Manglio Saravia, to stop selling drinks to minors and to hold down the bar noises.

Father Kruegler also complained to police.

The fathers said that Saravia, intoxicated, sought out the priest in the patio and shot him five times. One bullet struck him in the heart, others hit a shoulder and his neck.

A fellow Roman Catholic priest gave him the last rites.

A crowd gathered at the parish house of Our Lady of Mercy Church and, ignoring the fathers' protests, dragged Saravia through the streets to the village plaza and hanged him.

Britain Extends Soblen Deadline

LONDON (UPI) — Israel's unyielding refusal to allow one of its planes to return Dr. Robert Soblen to the United States gave the convicted Soviet spy another delay Wednesday in his fight against a life sentence in a U. S. prison.

The British Home Office extended until Friday midnight its deadline for the Israeli El Al Airline to fly the 61-year-old psychiatrist to New York.

(But informed sources in Jerusalem said the Israeli government stands firm on its refusal to have El Al involved in any way in the return of Soblen to the United States.)

FDA Raised Drug Issue 15 Months Ago

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration raised a question 15 months ago about the effect of the sedative thalidomide on pregnant women, a report made public Wednesday revealed.

But Dr. John D. Archer, assistant director of FDA's Division of New Drugs, pointed out that then, "Our concern was only on theoretical grounds." It was based he said on peripheral neuritis symptoms, numbness of the extremities, in adults.

This was several months before the German-developed drug was taken off the market in Germany because of reports associating it with deformities in children born of women who had taken the drug while pregnant.

The point was made in the government's account of a drug firm's 20 months of pressure for permission to market thalidomide despite repeated government rebuffs. The FDA team headed by Dr. Frances Kelsey turned down all efforts by the William S. Merrell Co. of Cincinnati on these grounds listed in the chronology:

—The application was incomplete and inadequate to demonstrate safety.

—The chemist's data were incomplete.

—The proposed labeling was unsuitable.

— Data from further animal studies were needed.

—There was insufficient information that the toxic reaction was completely reversible.

The drug never was approved for marketing in this country and it ultimately was blamed for thousands of birth malformations in Europe and Great Britain.

The chronology also took note of Merrell's problem of "a failure of communications" with European makers of the drug regarding neurological toxicity, after the American firm learned of the problem.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., whose efforts to tighten federal control over marketing of new drugs got a big boost from President Kennedy last weekend, put the chronology in the record of the Senate Judiciary Committee. That group is considering proposals by Kennedy in the wake of the furor over thalidomide.

Although the drug was not sold in the United States it was distributed to 1,231 doctors for possible experimental use. So far a government search has turned up no U.S. babies who were deformed through pills distributed by Merrell to physicians in this country.

Romney Piles Up Impressive Primary Vote

By The Associated Press

The most impressive thing about primary elections in three states on Tuesday was the vote piled up by former automaker George Romney in winning the Republican nomination for governor in Michigan.

But even Romney, mentioned as a possible GOP nominee for president in 1964, tried to soft-pedal that angle. So did the Democrats.

There were no surprises in any of the states.

In the U.S. Senate picture, GOP Sens. James B. Pearson and Frank Carlson of Kansas easily won renomination, as did Democrat Edward V. Long, a Kennedy administration backer, in Missouri.

Romney was unopposed except for some token write-ins. His vote outweighed that which won renomination for Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson, also unopposed. The total vote was light.

Unofficial totals from 5,195 of Michigan's 5,199 precincts gave Romney 446,398 compared with Swainson's 318,396.

But Romney said, "Most of the issues in the races Tuesday were strictly local in character and thus any attempt to apply the vote totals to the statewide campaign for governor would be misleading." The Democrats, agreeing, said they set their sights on victory in November.

In strongly Republican Kansas, GOP Gov. John Anderson easily ran up a lopsided victory for renomination and joined Carlson and Pearson as favorites to win in November.

The big election battle in Kansas was Pearson's smashing defeat of former Gov. Edward F. Arn.

JFK's Works Plan Under GOP Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders blasted anew Wednesday at President Kennedy's request for stand-by public works authority. They denounced it as a blank check that would neither stimulate the economy nor create jobs.

All it would do is set up "a $900-million political slush fund for the President" under a public works czar, GOP House Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said, adding:

"This bill would confer upon the President unprecedented powers to spend money in such amounts as he might determine for projects—whether federal, state or local—of his own choosing in areas selected by him.

"Every cent of the $900 million in this bill is unbudgeted and could lead only to more red ink spending and further increases in the national debt."

Both Halleck and Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the Senate-passed measure will come under strong attack in the House. And they predicted that if Congress quits by mid-September, as the Democratic leadership suggests, "quite a bit of wreckage" from Kennedy's program will be left by the wayside.

The public works proposal is among 10 must bills Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, said were discussed at a White House meeting Tuesday. He said Congress could pass all these and adjourn by Sept. 15—in time for fall political campaigning.

In an interview, Dirksen poo-pooed Humphrey's optimism, declaring:

"Is he kidding? The Senate won't even get the trade expansion bill until after Labor Day. The Democratic leaders are holding up the tax revision bill until after that. If Congress does all the things he says the President wants done, we'll be here in October."

Ministers Head For Albany, Ga.

BALTIMORE (AP)—A group of white and Negro ministers left Baltimore for Albany, Ga., Wednesday to protest treatment of Negroes in the Georgia City.

Although a dozen ministers plan to participate in the protest, only five left by car from the Cornerstone Baptist Church of Christ in late afternoon.

Another minister joined the five in Washington and the other six will fly to Albany, a spokesman said.

The leader of the group is Dr. I. Logan Kearse, pastor of the Cornerstone Baptist Church. Kearse called it the first interracial, interdenominational group to travel to Albany since demonstrations against discrimination began there several weeks ago.

Kearse said members would "demonstrate their disapproval of the tactics used by certain public officials against Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Dr. Ralph Abernathy and hundreds of other Negroes."

Baltimore Kids Toss Snowballs

BALTIMORE (AP)—The temperature hovered around 90 Wednesday but some 5,000 children attended a snowball jamboree sponsored by a Baltimore radio station (WEBB) in cooperation with the city's Recreation Department.

Last winter, the station paid youngsters a penny apiece for more than 10,000 snowballs and preserved them in refrigerators.

The same snowballs were taken Wednesday to four recreation centers, where about 1,800 children aged 5 to 10 tossed the balls at plywood, lifesized mannequins. Ice cream and cake were served to all the contestants.

Samuel E. Feldman, general manager and vice president of the station, said the the purpose of the jamboree was to provide an unusual day of entertainment for Baltimore youngsters.

"You must admit that snowballs in August in Baltimore is unusual," he quipped.

House Unit Revamps U.N. Bond Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee Wednesday agreed on a sharply curtailed version of President Kennedy's U.N. bond plan that was drafted by administration forces in an effort to win over opponents.

Informed sources said the President, anxious to avoid defeat, favored the revamped measure which would limit U.S. bond purchases to the amount put up by other countries.

Also written into the bill was a restriction to prevent the use of bond money to reduce the U.N. debts of member countries.

The actions completed committee work on the bill. A formal vote was scheduled for Thursday. If the measure clears the committee, it still faces a stiff fight on the House floor. The Senate has approved a somewhat different version.

Although a dozen ministers plan to participate in the protest, only five left by car from the Cornerstone Baptist Church of Christ in late afternoon.

Another minister joined the five in Washington and the other six will fly to Albany, a spokesman said.

The leader of the group is Dr. I. Logan Kearse, pastor of the Cornerstone Baptist Church. Kearse called it the first interracial, interdenominational group to travel to Albany since demonstrations against discrimination began there several weeks ago.

Kearse said members would "demonstrate their disapproval of the tactics used by certain public officials against Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Dr. Ralph Abernathy and hundreds of other Negroes."

Four Arrested On Bribery Charges In Ft. Meade Commissary Operation

BALTIMORE (AP) — The FBI in Baltimore announced the arrest of four men Wednesday on charges of violating the federal bribery law in connection with operation of the U.S. Army commissary at Ft. Meade, Md.

Edward J. Powers, special agent in charge of the Baltimore office, identified the four in custoday as:

Clifford V. Lawrence, 54, of Hyattsville, former civilian commissary officer at Ft. Meade dismissed from the job last June.

Joe Lewis Miller, 35, of Silver Spring, owner of the Jay Bee Distributing Co. in Hyattsville.

John Paterakis, 33, of Baltimore, a partner in the H & S Bakery of Baltimore.

William Schultz, 61, of Baltimore, a truck driver for H & S Bakery for the past three years.

Agent Powers said a complaint filed by the FBI before U.S. Commissioner H. Allen Metzger in Baltimore accused Lawrence of receiving sums of money from Miller from about June, 13, 1957, until about May 15, 1962, for the purpose of influencing Lawrence to favor Miller's company.

Miller was accused of giving sums of money to Lawrence during the same period for the same purpose; Paterakis was accused with giving $170 to a commissary employe for the purpose of influencing him to favor Paterakis' company, and Schultz was accused of giving sums of money to Lawrence during May of 1962 for the same purpose.

The FBI said Army Col. Phillip H. Pope, post commander at Meade, had become suspicious of commissary activities after an audit by the Army auditors showed that prices of some items appeared to be excessive.

As a result of the audit and an inquiry by the Criminal Intelligence Division at Ft. Meade, the FBI said, Lawrence was relieved of his duties and information developed was turned over to the FBI.

Commissioner Metzger fixed bond of $2,500 each for Lawrence, Miller, and Paterakis and $1,000 for Schultz. Only Miller requested a hearing and it was set for Aug. 16.

Schultz and Paterakis posted cash as bail. The two others were held in default.

Indictments by a federal grand jury will be sought soon by the U. S. attorney's office.

Commission To Air Sands Resignation

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations will meet Monday to discuss the controversial resignation of its executive secretary, Douglas B. Sands.

Sands quit his $5,992 a year post with the commission Monday after it was disclosed that the commission chairman, William C. Rogers Sr. had written Gov. Tawes urging him to name commission member S. Edward Smith to the proposed new post of executive director.

Rogers said Wednesday he called the meeting next week at the request of commission members.

Sands, who had refused earlier to comment on his resignation, said Wednesday the resignation should not be construed as a threat or intimidation.

"However, I do not intend to use those circumstances to gain my personal ambitions . . . I am not playing games. That should be left to those more professional at it than I."

The overflowing of the Hoang-Ho River in China in 1887 cost up to seven million lives.

S&L Insurance Applications Soar

BALTIMORE (AP) — Applications for participation in a new self-insurance plan sponsored by the state for savings and loan associations had reached 230 Wednesday.

Richard W. Case, chairman of an organized board of directors, said the applicants have more than $169 million in accounts, or more than 90 per cent of the money on deposit with state-chartered associations.

The legislature in authorizing the plan had fixed a minimum of 25 associations with $25 million in accounts. It also fixed next July 1 as a deadline for putting the fund in operation.

However, the board hopes to start it by Nov. 1. In order to do so, the Department of Assessments and Taxation will ask Gov. Tawes for authority to hire eight temporary accountants.

Each association's books have to be examined and certified before being accepted as members of the fund. Each member is to be assessed for the insurance.

Each account will be insured up to $20,000.

The chewing gum business dates back to 1860.

Secrets Of Charm

Hand-And-Arm Movement: A Lesson In Grace

Your hands and arms can make you look heavier or more trim — just as they confirm the fact that you are graceful or awkward. Which they do depends on how you hold and move them.

The upward motion is more pleasing, always, than the downward. Hands should be shown from the side as much as possible, with fingers curved and relaxed. Motion of the hand should come from the wrist, then it will relax naturally into a graceful position. There should always be a little separation between the arm and the waistline.

To prove to yourself what widening effect the arms can have, stand before a mirror holding the arms straight down, close to your sides. Now relax. Place one arm a little in front of the body with the hand resting on the thigh, and the other a little behind the body with that hand resting against the other thigh. Keep the elbows away from the body. See how much more graceful, how much slimmer you look now, than in the arms-down position?

Assume this easy pose, again consulting your mirror: Cross your arms at waist level, placing the back of one hand lightly into the palm of the other with the fingers relaxed and naturally curled, wrists curving upward. Again, keep your elbows away from your body. If you pull the elbows close, the result of this "cupped hands" position is a tense, not a graceful look . . . keep those elbows free!

People often ask if it is possible to appear graceful while standing with hands on hips. The answer is yes, if you stand this way: Grasp the waist between the thumbs and forefingers so that the other fingers rest behind the body slanting toward the floor. Wrist and arm should form an unbroken triangle. Extend the elbows in a line with the shoulder.

There's no reason, either, why you shouldn't put one hand, or both of them in your pockets, provided you follow these directions: Close and straighten your fingers. Slide them gently into the pockets until the center of the knuckles is covered. Leave the thumb exposed on the outside of the pocket. Never lean on the pocket, or you will distort the lines of the coat, dress, or skirt you are wearing.

Joe Smith Finds SS Records In Order

BALTIMORE (AP) — One of the 12,000 Joe Smiths enrolled in the U.S. Social Security program accepted happily Wednesday the news that his records are all in order.

This particular Smith is Joe G. Smith from San Mateo, Calif. He further can be distinguished from the rest of the clan by his age — 29 — and his patriotic address: 1776 Eisenhower Drive.

The way a Social Security public information officer tells it, our man Smith became concerned about his records when he learned there were 1,650,000 Smiths on file at the Social Security headquarters at nearby Woodlawn.

And when he learned there were 12,000 Joe Smiths recorded, he decided to visit Social Security headquarters while on vacation to be certain his records weren't being mixed up with those who share his name.

Travel arrangements were made easier because he is a special sales coordinator for Pacific Airlines and got an airline employe's discount on his airplane ticket. He brought along his wife Maxine and their two children, Becky, 5, and Hal, 3.

Victor Christgau, national director of the Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance, rolled out the red carpet Wednesday for Smith and family when they toured the Social Security headquarters.

Other officials put to rest Smith's fears about his account by explaining he is identified by number as well as name and the records are kept straight by a battery of electronic computers.

The Smiths will tour the headquarters again Thursday, then will go to Washington for a tour of the White House and the Capitol arranged by his congressman, Rep. J. Arthur Younger. He'll also meet in Washington the commissioner of Social Security, Robert M. Ball.

The Voice of America, picturing old Joe G. Smith of San Mateo, Calif., as a typical American, has asked him and his family to say a few words to Americans abroad. They will make the recording Friday and end their visit Monday with a visit to the National Archives in Washington.

Aspirants Plan High Court Plea

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Eleven aspiring candidates in the November elections decided Wednesday they will take their dispute over a newspaper advertising bill to the Maryland Court of Appeals.

The Baltimore County Board of Supervisors is refusing to put the names of the 11 on the ballot. The board billed the 11 for $9,024, the cost of publishing their names in a Baltimore daily newspaper (Evening Sun).

The would-be candidates are willing to pay only $1,920, the cost — they say — of the same publication in a Baltimore County weekly newspaper.

Two judges have upheld the discretion of the election supervisors in choosing the newspaper and that the difference in costs has no bearing on the legality.

The 11 sought to become independent candidates by petition rather than seek nomination in last May's party primaries. The names of such candidates must be advertised.

The 11 want to run for county offices and the House of Delegates.

Driver Refresher Course Proposed

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The time has come to give post graduate instruction in automobile driving as well as teaching learners, Maryland Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said Wednesday.

It seems to him, Goldstein said at a traffic safety conference for youths, that adults are more anxious to save time than lives.

Goldstein also said that members of society, in order to protect themselves, have a right to crack down as hard as they can on habitual violators of motor vehicle laws.

Gov. Tawes also spoke to the high school delegates and said the automobile is a greater threat to life than most diseases.

Motorist Is Charged With Manslaughter

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Police charged Willie B. Braxton, 37, with manslaughter by auto Wednesday in the death Saturday of Laura Beckett, 40, on U.S. 40 east of Hagerstown.

Assistant State's Atty. David Poole said she was killed when struck by the Braxton car as she walked along the highway. He said she had been a passenger in the car a few minutes earlier.

Farm Worker Held In Ex-Tailor's Death

BALTIMORE (AP) — A retired tailor attacked in a public square died Wednesday, and police charged a North Carolina farm worker with homicide.

Vernon Gray Fletcher, 24, of Walkerstown, N.C., was accused of causing the death of Anthony J. Puleo, 62.

Puleo was sitting on his customary bench in Mt. Vernon Square Tuesday night, enjoying the relief from the day's heat. Police said a young man struck Puleo, knocking him from the bench, then kicked him in the head.

The attacker escaped. Puleo was taken to the hospital for emergency surgery but died of a fractured skull.

County Demos Planning To Issue Newsletter

The Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County has made plans for issuance of a newsletter titled "Tawes and Tom's Topics."

Tawes, of course, is the governor while Tom is Cumberland's own Thomas B. Finan, attorney general.

The newsletter will carry listings of all meetings in the county and also other campaign data. It will be mailed to all candidates and party workers.

Listed on the newsletter are the candidates for state office and the various county offices. James F. Quinn, Frostburg, is editor of the newsletter.

William L. Wilson, Democratic committee chairman, also announced that a booth will be set up at the Cumberland Fair starting August 20. F. Allan Weatherholt, Edward Flanagan and John Ralph Kelly will be in charge of the booth.

A Democratic headquarters will be opened soon at 22 Baltimore Street, adjacent to the parking lot at the corner of Baltimore and North Mechanic streets. Richard Stakem will be the office manager. The headquarters will be fully manned starting about September 1.

Plans are also being made for a luncheon September 8 at Clarysville Inn for all Democratic candidates and poll workers. Matthew J. Mullaney will be chairman of the luncheon. There will be information on registration and also handling the election work.

Fingerprinting as a method of identification has been in use in the Far Eastern areas since early history.

Sewer Project Is Proposed

An ordinance for the sewering of Haddon Avenue will be introduced before the Mayor and Council Monday, August 27 and those wishing to be heard should appear at that time.

The Mayor and Council Monday said projects will cover the area from the intersection with Chelsea Street to a point 850 feet north.

Council authorized City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and City Attorney Hugh A. McMullen to negotiate for easement agreement from certain property owners located between Winfred Road and Haddon Avenue in connection with construction of an eight-inch sanitary sewer from Rose Avenue 1,000 feet to Williams Road; and between Winifred Road and White Avenue for a sewer from Rose Avenue north 850 feet to White Avenue.

Police Chief Cites Danger Of Playing In Streets

Police Chief B. F. Gaffney has urged parents to caution their children against playing ball in streets, pointing out the danger of children at play thoughtlessly running into the path of moving vehicles.

Chief Gaffney said the summer season invariably is accompanied by complaints of children playing in streets, but that the complaints have been unusually numerous in recent weeks.

In asking the cooperation of parents, the chief said patrolmen have been instructed to take balls and bats away from children when answering future complaints.

Acknowledging that such action is drastic, Chief Gaffney said it appears to be the only way the dangerous acts can be controlled.

In England, dukes take precedence over all except princes and princesses of royal blood and archbishops of Canterbury and York and the lord chancellor.

The Mayor and Council Monday said projects will cover the area from the intersection with Chelsea Street to a point 850 feet north.

Council authorized City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and City Attorney Hugh A. McMullen to negotiate for easement agreement from certain property owners located between Winfred Road and Haddon Avenue in connection with construction of an eight-inch sanitary sewer from Rose Avenue 1,000 feet to Williams Road; and between Winifred Road and White Avenue for a sewer from Rose Avenue north 850 feet to White Avenue.

Police Chief Cites Danger Of Playing In Streets

Police Chief B. F. Gaffney has urged parents to caution their children against playing ball in streets, pointing out the danger of children at play thoughtlessly running into the path of moving vehicles.

Chief Gaffney said the summer season invariably is accompanied by complaints of children playing in streets, but that the complaints have been unusually numerous in recent weeks.

In asking the cooperation of parents, the chief said patrolmen have been instructed to take balls and bats away from children when answering future complaints.

Acknowledging that such action is drastic, Chief Gaffney said it appears to be the only way the dangerous acts can be controlled.

In England, dukes take precedence over all except princes and princesses of royal blood and archbishops of Canterbury and York and the lord chancellor.

Bel Air Addition Approved For FHA Mortgages

Allegany Land Company, which operates the Bel Air housing development on U. S. Route 220, about seven miles south of Cumberland, has been approved for mortgage insurance by the Federal Housing Administration.

Robert H. Downing, manager of the 240-acre tract, says FHA approval of the development site should prove a boon to potential home-buyers since less money is required for down payments, and monthly payments are spread over a long period of time for the convenience of the purchaser.

In announcing its approval of Bel Air, the federal agency said its was doing so to "aid in successfully developing this land to create a neighborhood which will be profitable to the developer, attractive to home buyers, sound for investors and creditable to the community."

Downing said the FHA does not lend money as such, but instead insures mortgages. He explains that firms such as the Weaver Brothers Company and James F. Rowse Company, each of Baltimore, represents life insurance companies that lend money toward the purchase of homes.

Under the agreement that has been sent to Dowling, the FHA says it will consider mortgage insurance on individual properties at Bel Air on the basis of two stipulations. These are (1) that there will not be more than 25 outstanding conditional commitments at one time, and (2) that the total number of units does not exceed the approved capacity of the Bel Air sewage disposal system and plant.

Downing explained that under the first stipulation the FHA will consider applications for mortgage insurance on all that are pre-sold, but limits the number to 25 on such as are not pre-sold. He added that the development's sewage disposal system and plant are geared to 200 homes, and that the land is available and engineering completed for a system to handle an additional 200 homes.

Under FHA regulations a purchaser must pay three per cent down on a $15,000 home and lot, or $450. A $20,000 home and lot requires a down payment of $700, and a $25,000 home and lot, $1,200. Dowling said this breaks down to three per cent on the first $15,000, five per cent on the next $5,000, and 10 per cent on the next $5,000.

The federal agency's terms are for 30 years at 5¼ per cent, plus one-half of one per cent for FHA mortgage insurance, or a total of 5¾ per cent, Downing points out.

Charges of the drug violation were filed today before Justice of the Peace Fred Gentleman.

Finley was jailed under $500 bond.

State Police said in his possession when arrested was a quantity of amphetamine tablets.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD. — It's as though she were looking back over her shoulder at us with that famous head-down, eyes-up look, and saying, "You see. I really was sick."

Many of us, too many of us lately, had mistaken that deep malaise of her spirit for irresponsibility and lack of discipline. That not unappealing childishness of her youth had seemed to mature into thoughtlessness and lack of consideration for others.

We just didn't know how hard the fight was.

The last time I saw Marilyn to talk with her was at Kay Gable's. We were having cocktails and hors d'ouevres and she suddenly said, "Do you remember when we used to dine at my own private little Romanoff's?"

This dated back to her early days in Hollywood when she was just starting out under the guidance of the late agent, Johnny Hyde. Johnny was deeply and hopelessly in love with Marilyn. His belief in her blazed like a beacon—even before he could get jobs for her.

Marilyn "dearly loved" to eat in restaurants—expensive ones.

So, when Johnny redecorated his lavish Beverly Hills home, he did his dining room in four white leather booths with a cleared space for dancing in the center. And the delighted Marilyn called it "my own private little Romanoffs."

I first met Marilyn at the home of Louella Parsons, who from the first had been drawn sympathetically to this glorious looking girl and her problems.

And, Marilyn, like a flower turning toward the sun when someone liked her, was devoted to our Miss P.

She never came to Hollywood no matter how briefly that she didn't call on Louella. Once, when Louella was unable to attend a party Marilyn was giving, Marilyn came to her home bearing some party sandwiches and a chilled bottle of champagne. They had their own private party while Louella was under the dryer in her dressing room.

Another time at 20th Century-Fox, Louella and I were in the wardrobe department trying on costumes for a western party. We were laughing and talking noisily, I guess, because an overzealous wardrobe girl shhhh us. "Marilyn Monroe is in the next room," she warned.

"Oh, tell her to come off it," I said snappishly.

Suddenly, there was a giggle. Then in the door appeared that beautiful face and body, Marilyn arrayed in one of her most gorgeous costumes for "Call Me Madam."

"I'm off it, Dorothy," she laughed.

We could just stand and stare at the unbelievable picture she presented, turning and showing off her make-believe finery.

She was happiest and most at home in this world of make believe.

Reality was too hard to take. Today—goodbye, my dear.

The red tape which kept Virginia Bruce's husband Ali Ipar bound up in France for so long has been snipped at last. And he is on the SS United States on his way to Hollywood to be reunited with the wife he has not seen in four years.

Two of those years were spent in a Turkish prison on a political conviction charge of "conspiring" against his country after the other side came into power. I understand the price of Ipar's freedom was his consent to pay a $3,000,000 "fine."

That couldn't happen-to-a-nicer guy testimonial celebrating Nat ("King") Cole's 25th anniversary in show business jammed the Embassy Room of the Ambassador Hotel with close to 1,000 of Nat's pals and fans. A special bow goes to Edie Adams, chairwoman of the event, and to Steve Allen, at his best as master of ceremonies.

Who was there? Just about everybody, including Mickey Rooney, Groucho Marx, the Robert Stacks, Ricardo Montalbans, Ed Wynn, the Greg Bautzers and the members of the urban league who sponsored the delightful affair which made Nat a very happy fellow.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The prettiest summer night's party of them all before the tragedy of Marilyn Monroe broke was hosted by the Hall Bartlett's, honoring the Vincente Minnellis at the Sun Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel.

What a fashion show! Denise Minnelli could have stepped off the cover of Harper's Bazaar in a stunning yellow and white Grecian style gown set off by her beautiful emeralds.

Mrs. Ray Stark's whirling white skirt was made for twisting - and, how she did twist!

Polly Bergen Fields looked like a flower in an all-flowered bodice over a tight sheath skirt.

Jill St. John was a stunner in a short black chiffon gown and she and George Hamilton (they didn't come together) looked like "pros" on the dance floor.

Sat next to Bob Stack at Anamarie Bartlett's table and we were torn over the dazzle of our hostesses magnificent diamonds (never have I seen two such huge diamonds in one ring) and having a serious discussion with Paul Trousdale over California property values.

Hope Lange, in pale green chiffon, was beaued by Frank McCarthy and vivacious Jan Sterling by Rupert Allen.

Cesare Danova brought Mrs. Joan Cohn, Larry Harvey, her steady escort being in Europe.

Very pretty in a red gown with a small tiara in her dark hair was Dorothy Maloney. Also at our table, along with Edie Adams, (this is a great gal) Cy Howard, Mrs. David May and Freddie Fields, Jacques Mapes, and Richard Gully.

Had a long talk with Michael Wilding about all sorts of things including his fine boys, now with Liz Taylor.

Jennifer Jones, with David Selznick of course, was stunning in a long black chiffon — and seemed to be having as much fun as anyone.

Merle Oberon cast her own brand of glamor in a short white gown and her fabulous pearls. And two of the prettiest were Rhonda Fleming, in a classic long white gown, and Rosemarie Stack in a short one. The newlywed Jerry Ohrbachs are still receiving congratulations, and very happy they are. Ditto the just as newly married David Mays—Andra is a darling.

Congratulations to famed publicist Henry Rogers and his wife on the birth of a brand new glamor girl to their daughter daughter Marcia and her handsome husband, Mark Goddard. The debutante weighed in at seven pounds, one ounce and is named Melissa Susan.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD. — It's as though she were looking back over her shoulder at us with that famous head-down, eyes-up look, and saying, "You see. I really was sick."

Many of us, too many of us lately, had mistaken that deep malaise of her spirit for irresponsibility and lack of discipline. That not unappealing childishness of her youth had seemed to mature into thoughtlessness and lack of consideration for others.

We just didn't know how hard the fight was.

The last time I saw Marilyn to talk with her was at Kay Gable's. We were having cocktails and hors d'ouevres and she suddenly said, "Do you remember when we used to dine at my own private little Romanoff's?"

This dated back to her early days in Hollywood when she was just starting out under the guidance of the late agent, Johnny Hyde. Johnny was deeply and hopelessly in love with Marilyn. His belief in her blazed like a beacon—even before he could get jobs for her.

Marilyn "dearly loved" to eat in restaurants—expensive ones.

So, when Johnny redecorated his lavish Beverly Hills home, he did his dining room in four white leather booths with a cleared space for dancing in the center. And the delighted Marilyn called it "my own private little Romanoffs."

I first met Marilyn at the home of Louella Parsons, who from the first had been drawn sympathetically to this glorious looking girl and her problems.

And, Marilyn, like a flower turning toward the sun when someone liked her, was devoted to our Miss P.

She never came to Hollywood no matter how briefly that she didn't call on Louella. Once, when Louella was unable to attend a party Marilyn was giving, Marilyn came to her home bearing some party sandwiches and a chilled bottle of champagne. They had their own private party while Louella was under the dryer in her dressing room.

Another time at 20th Century-Fox, Louella and I were in the wardrobe department trying on costumes for a western party. We were laughing and talking noisily, I guess, because an overzealous wardrobe girl shhhh us. "Marilyn Monroe is in the next room," she warned.

"Oh, tell her to come off it," I said snappishly.

Suddenly, there was a giggle. Then in the door appeared that beautiful face and body, Marilyn arrayed in one of her most gorgeous costumes for "Call Me Madam."

"I'm off it, Dorothy," she laughed.

We could just stand and stare at the unbelievable picture she presented, turning and showing off her make-believe finery.

She was happiest and most at home in this world of make believe.

Reality was too hard to take. Today—goodbye, my dear.

The red tape which kept Virginia Bruce's husband Ali Ipar bound up in France for so long has been snipped at last. And he is on the SS United States on his way to Hollywood to be reunited with the wife he has not seen in four years.

Two of those years were spent in a Turkish prison on a political conviction charge of "conspiring" against his country after the other side came into power. I understand the price of Ipar's freedom was his consent to pay a $3,000,000 "fine."

That couldn't happen-to-a-nicer guy testimonial celebrating Nat ("King") Cole's 25th anniversary in show business jammed the Embassy Room of the Ambassador Hotel with close to 1,000 of Nat's pals and fans. A special bow goes to Edie Adams, chairwoman of the event, and to Steve Allen, at his best as master of ceremonies.

Who was there? Just about everybody, including Mickey Rooney, Groucho Marx, the Robert Stacks, Ricardo Montalbans, Ed Wynn, the Greg Bautzers and the members of the urban league who sponsored the delightful affair which made Nat a very happy fellow.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The prettiest summer night's party of them all before the tragedy of Marilyn Monroe broke was hosted by the Hall Bartlett's, honoring the Vincente Minnellis at the Sun Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel.

What a fashion show! Denise Minnelli could have stepped off the cover of Harper's Bazaar in a stunning yellow and white Grecian style gown set off by her beautiful emeralds.

Mrs. Ray Stark's whirling white skirt was made for twisting - and, how she did twist!

Polly Bergen Fields looked like a flower in an all-flowered bodice over a tight sheath skirt.

Jill St. John was a stunner in a short black chiffon gown and she and George Hamilton (they didn't come together) looked like "pros" on the dance floor.

Sat next to Bob Stack at Anamarie Bartlett's table and we were torn over the dazzle of our hostesses magnificent diamonds (never have I seen two such huge diamonds in one ring) and having a serious discussion with Paul Trousdale over California property values.

Hope Lange, in pale green chiffon, was beaued by Frank McCarthy and vivacious Jan Sterling by Rupert Allen.

Cesare Danova brought Mrs. Joan Cohn, Larry Harvey, her steady escort being in Europe.

Very pretty in a red gown with a small tiara in her dark hair was Dorothy Maloney. Also at our table, along with Edie Adams, (this is a great gal) Cy Howard, Mrs. David May and Freddie Fields, Jacques Mapes, and Richard Gully.

Had a long talk with Michael Wilding about all sorts of things including his fine boys, now with Liz Taylor.

Jennifer Jones, with David Selznick of course, was stunning in a long black chiffon — and seemed to be having as much fun as anyone.

Merle Oberon cast her own brand of glamor in a short white gown and her fabulous pearls. And two of the prettiest were Rhonda Fleming, in a classic long white gown, and Rosemarie Stack in a short one. The newly-wed Jerry Ohrbachs are still receiving congratulations, and very happy they are. Ditto the just as newly married David Mays—Andra is a darling.

Congratulations to famed publicist Henry Rogers and his wife on the birth of a brand new glamor girl to their daughter daughter Marcia and her handsome husband, Mark Goddard. The debutante weighed in at seven pounds, one ounce and is named Melissa Susan.

Greenbank Future Is Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for a proposed large-scale tourist development in Pocahontas County, W. Va., were discussed Wednesday by West Virginia state and federal officials.

Paul Crabtree, Washington representative of Gov. W. W. Barron of West Virginia, said the group agreed to cooperate on plans which may lead to several tourist attractions near the site of a radio telescope at Greenbank.

He said these include:

A space age exhibition center, museum and "listening post on the stars" on top of Blad Knob overlooking the radio telescope site at Greenbank.

Full development of the Cass Railroad to take visitors from the town of Cass to the overlook. An Area Redevelopment Administration application already has been submitted for improvement of the scenic railroad.

A luxury lodge and tourist center in or near the town of Cass.

A ski slope and winter sport center.

Possibly a high-altitude fishing velopment in Pocahontas County.

Crabtree said the officials agreed to work jointly on the plans. Among those conferring were officials of ARA, the National Science Foundation, Hulett C. Smith, West Virginia commissioner of commerce; Warden M. Lane, the state's director of natural resources, and Crabtree.

Later the West Virginia officials conferred with aides of President Kennedy at the White House. They said the response to the plans was gratifying and that full White House cooperation had been pledged.

The state officials emphasized that the proposed tourist development is distinct and separate from the one originally planned at nearby Sugar Grove. The ARA approved original tourist plans for Sugar Grove but held disapproval in abeyance when the Navy later canceled the Sugar Grove project.

Plans for the Greenbank development, Crabtree said, will be mapped out by the West Virginia Department of Natural Resources. Officials of the National Science Foundation will work closely with state planning personnel on technical details connected with the radio telescope, Crabtree said.

The radio telescope at Greenbank is under the jurisdiction of the science foundation. The Navy was constructing the telescope at Sugar Grove, before the Defense Department ordered a halt on that project.

Dismantling Yard Ruling Is Withheld

The Allegany County Board of Zoning Appeals yesterday withheld a decision following a hearing held at the Court House in connection with the issuance of a permit for the storage and dismantling of used cars and sale of new parts on land in the Dutch Hollow section of Mt. Savage.

The permit is being sought by James Sacco of Sand Patch, Pa., who told the board members yesterday that he doesn't burn the used cars and there will be no noise in connection with the operation of his business.

If necessary, he added, an eight-foot fence will eventually be placed around the premises which include about three acres of land he said was purchased in 1953.

The land has been cleared and graded according to Sacco, who said he will "run a clean junkyard" and plans to construct two dwellings on the premises in addition to buildings necessary for his business.

He told the board he has about $68,000 tied up in his Sand Patch operation where about 500 cars are stored. Sacco said he expects to reside in one of the homes on the land in Dutch Hollow.

Rural Area

Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg attorney, who represented Sacco at yesterday's hearing, pointed out that the proposed dismantling yard is located in an area which is rural in nature and unincorporated. He said his client would comply with the laws set up by the County Planning and Zoning Commission if the permit is issued.

Paul Warner, RD 1, Mt. Savage, who was spokesman for a group of protestants at the meeting, said Sacco was going to make a junkyard in the area and he had a petition with names of those who are opposed to the issuance of the permit. Some of the protestants, he said, plan to build in the immediate vicinity of the proposed dismantling yard.

He read a statement from Raymond Himmelwright, cashier at the First National Bank of Mt. Savage, who said the location of the dismantling yard would tend to decrease the value of the land surrounding the yard.

Mr. Himmelwright also pointed out that the location of the yard would affect loans for future building in that area.

Other Objections

Several other residents of Dutch Hollow were present at the meeting and voiced opposition to the dismantling yard.

Gerald Barb said he had a "fairly nice home" in the area and he objects to the burning of trash at the yard.

Clayton Robison, of Mt. Savage, who plans to build in the area, said he would not be able to get a loan from the bank if the dismantling yard is allowed.

It was pointed out at the hearing that two petitions had been signed by residents of the area. Names of some residents were on both petitions — for and against the dismantling yard.

Everett Partridge board chairman who presided at the hearing, said the board will meet later to make a decision.

Ralph G. Cover, board member, was present although the third member of the board, Wilbur Johnson, was unable to attend.

Conservation Needs Theme Of Meeting

Representatives of Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania will attend a meeting of the Research Needs Committee for Land Resources Area today in Franklin, W. Va.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service office here, will represent Allegany and Washington counties at the meeting, which will be in charge of Norris R. Caryl, Romney, area SCS conservationist for five West Virginia counties.

Portions of the tri-state area are included in the Ridge and Valley and Limestone Valley Area of the nation, which is divided into 136 major land resource areas.

The meeting will open at 9:30 a. m. at the SCS office in Franklin, according to Mr. Gordon, who said some of the problems of his district which will be discussed include:

Whether contour strip cropping is doing an adequate job without added support of diversion terraces; the finding of a more productive perennial legume for pasture and meadow to withstand drought; and finding an annual cash crop which would pay off on some problem soils.

Some time ago Mr. Gordon submitted research problems to Mr. Caryl, and is attending the meeting at the request of the state SCS office.

Similar soil and similar problems are prevalent in the three-state area, said Mr. Gordon, and they will be aired at the meeting today.

To Speak To Club

William H. Ansel Jr., president of the Romney Kiwanis Club, will be the guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club today at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

The Semantics Of Communism

Even to a part-time student of Communist history the exercise of semantics is plain. Yet in an eternal wishfulness to find the best in man and organizations, too many persons ignore the basic lesson.

To most, "peaceful coexistence" means living their own lives without the threat of either hot or cold war. To the Communist the term means only the absence of a shooting war, with the other side lulled into complacency while a cold war continues.

We still look for pearls in mussels for mussels resemble oysters and we know oysters are the source of pearls — Communists being people we continue to hope that they one day will exhibit the peaceable attributes we expect human beings to have. We even look hopefully for division between Russian and Chinese Communists, forgetting that whether they follow the road of evolution or revolution, their goal is the same.

No people make a stronger play on the word "democratic" than do the Communists in East Germany, North Korea and North Vietnam. No one applies the term "republic" more vigorously. Even putting "peoples" into the nomenclature of puppet governments means a different thing to Red rulers than to peoples of the free world.

Semantics is a tool of Communism and it is past time that citizens of "advanced" countries remember that. It is not just something for newly developed nations to discover.

These Days

Herbert Hoover At 88

It is now 48 years that Herbert Hoover has devoted all the hours of his life to public service. It is the record of a man whose acceptance of public responsibility has almost been priestly in character. He has asked for no return, for no thanks, for no recognition for services done.

Not all of Herbert Hoover's efforts have been successful; but they have all been motivated by selfless recognition that each man is his brother's servant.

It is not surprising that today reaching the great age of 88, Herbert Hoover should be an honored and beloved man. Even those who bore him enmity for the Depression of 1929 have long come to recognize that in Herbert Hoover, as President, we had not a politician who twisted and turned with the tides of popularity, but one who was guided by the foundation principles of our civilization, by the Natural Law and by the Constitution of the United States

Herbert Hoover has never been a radical or a reactionary. In the 19th Century, he would have been regarded as a moderate liberal, of the order of John Stuart Mill; in the 20th Century, he would be called a conservative.

The 19th Century Liberal believed in the expansion of individual human rights and benefits. He put an end to child labor; he gained the vote for an increasing number of persons; he attacked the concept that women were chattel; he fought against slavery and abolished it in most places. His slogan was equality of opportunity for all of mankind.

But the 19th Century Liberal differed from the 20th Century Liberal in one basic essential; the 19th Century Liberal believed that by the expansion of the liberties of the individual, by increased access to education, by equality of economic opportunity, the individual would contribute his share to the perfection of society.

The 20th Century Liberal has found this process too slow. He has turned to government as the vehicle of achieving all good. He has expanded the powers and activities of government. He has reduced the possibility for equality of opportunity by burdening the individual with taxes which, in America, are bringing the economy to a standstill. He has made the government the benefactor of a large part of the population; thus, destroying ambition and initiative and lessening the impulse toward achievement. He has substituted a humanistic philosophy of life for the loving, God-fearing morality of the Judiac-Christian civilization.

In his anxiety to solve all human problems speedily, the 20th Century Liberal has lost the meaning of the family system. He has substituted for parental solicitudes, a pseudo-scientific sociological intervention in the family and psychiatric supervision of morals. The evil results of this are statistical in increased divorces, broken homes and juvenile criminality.

In 1962, dissatisfaction with the product of 20th Century Liberalism is widespread. Young people do not like the world in which they find themselves. Many become Communists; others declare themselves to be various types of conservatives (some without definition); still others have joined various extremist rightist radical movements. Others, like the Beatniks, turn to sexual escapism as a way of life.

These are manifestation of youthful reaction to an unsatisfactory way of life.

In this changing and confusing world, Herbert Hoover stands as a monumental moral force, the solid representative in our land of the basic principles of 19th Century Liberalism. He has brought into the 20th Century the Quaker ideal of the goodness of man in the love of God. This concept is not Humanistic; it is Deistic, for man cannot stand alone in a changing world. He requires the strength of faith in a force outside himself, as Matthew Arnold put it, that makes for righteousness, and having that strength within himself, he does not need the power of government to control him.

Herbert Hoover's life is a Horatio Alger story. The orphaned son of a blacksmith and a seamstress, he became a great engineer, the feeder of the human race, Secretary of Commerce and President of the United States. He heads th Boys Clubs of America, perhaps to help give other boys what he missed as a boy. He is the author of many important historical volumes and is now engaged in a great work on international relations.

He is America's great man.

Bureaucrats Ignore Presidential Directives, Pursue Own Policies

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's note: Drew Pearson is touring the Balkans. In his absence, his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Sometimes not even the President of the United States can budge the bureaucrats who are supposed to carry out his policies but often prefer their own ways.

Take, for instance, the official policy toward tungsten, a strategic metal which goes into such diversified items as armor-piercing shells and electric light bulbs.

Following World War II, Uncle Sam began stockpiling tungsten until a mountain of the stuff had piled up. Still, the government bought more tungsten, spurred on during the late 1950s by President Eisenhower's minerals chief, Royce Hardy.

It may be only coincidental that his family has been interested in tungsten.

Hardy, of course, joined the Republican exodus out of government in 1961, but he left behind the bureaucrats who had gotten into the habit of hoarding tungsten.

By the time the Democrats took custody of the stockpile, enough tungsten had accumulated to last the country 16 years. Indeed, President Kennedy found Uncle Sam up to his top hate in strategic materials and reversed Eisenhower's purchase policy.

Kennedy not only explained the change in policy at a press conference, but issued an executive order to the stockpilers to get rid of the over-supply.

Reading about this in the newspapers, the light-bulb people came to Uncle Sam last March for 5,000,000 pounds of tungsten from the stockpile. Most of it was needed by Sylvania to make lamps for the government.

Hardy's holdovers in the Minerals Resources Branch had not only one, but two official reasons for approving the transaction.

First, the sale would have made scarcely a dent in the mountain of tungsten which the President had ordered reduced.

Second, the light-bulb manufacturers had no alternative but to buy the tungsten overseas if they couldn't get it from the stockpile. This amounted to a whopping expenditure of $10,000,000 — an outflow of dollars which Kennedy desperately wants to curb.

But old habits are hard for bureaucrats to break. The Minerals Resources people, stubbornly sticking to the old Hardy policy and ignoring the new instructions from the White House, blocked the sale.

Washington Whispers

Secret Service bodyguards are fond of the first family but can't stand the President's brother-in-law, Peter Lawford. The actor treats them like parlor servants. "Boy," he will say, "bring my bags" or "fetch me a drink" . . . grumbled one agent privately: "We don't mind wet-nursing Caroline, but we hate to wet-nurse Lawford" . . . On the other hand, the agents adore Jacqueline Kennedy who sometimes drops into their squad room, hoists herself side-saddle upon a desk, and chats amiably with them . . . General Lauris Norstad had no inkling that he would be replaced as NATO commander when he was summoned to Washington last month on two days' notice; although he had suffered two mild heart attacks, he didn't plan to retire until next year. Even as he was getting the word at the White House, his wife was inviting friends to visit them in Paris this fall. . . . Dignified housing officials were dismayed last week over invitations to attend a pajama party. The joint hosts: Joe McMurray, chairman of the Home Loan Bank Board, and Carl Coan, staff director of the Senate Housing Subcommittee. . . . Rather than offend such powers in the housing field, some guests grudgingly showed up in their nightwear. After dinner and drinks, some trudged off to a community pajama ball. But a few sneaked home, and (being appropriately dressed for it) went to bed.

Numbers Raid

A routine raid upon a Chelsea, Mass., numbers parlor dramatizes how nickel-and-dime bets can run into the millions, providing the cold cash that finances the underworld and pays literally for murder.

Here is a revealing excerpt from the confidential report to Attorney General Robert Kennedy on the Chelsea raid:

"Although the average bet was approximately 30 to 35 cents a day, the operation grossed $2,500,000, of which 25 per cent was paid to the number writers and 35 per cent paid out to the winners. This means an annual net income of $1,000,000 a year.

"There were 26,000 wakers per day. These figures are a graphic illustration of how a nickel-and-dime numbers game can generate tremendous sums of cash."

Sea Dog's Tricks

It's hard to teach an old sea dog new tricks, but retired Admiral Leroy V. Honsinger is learning.

The former commander of the Mare Island, Calif., shipyard decided to run for Congress on the Republican ticket, but he had a terrible time deciding how to register.

On December 1, he registered as "Leroy V. Honsinger, Rear Admiral, U. S. Navy."

Then on April 2, he re-registered as "retired naval officer, 230 Sonora Pass."

But on June 21, he registered again as "Leroy Vernon Honsinger, industrial management engineer." Apparently, he decided more people would vote for an industrial engineer than a retired admiral.

Finally, on June 22, he re-registered again as L. V. "Mike" Honsinger. By this time, he had discovered that the common touch is important in politics.

A Pause, Some Changes, And A Widening Gap

By Don Cook

PARIS

In the brief month since President Kennedy's Fourth of July "Declaration of Interdependence" with Europe, the gap of understanding and purpose in the Atlantic Alliance has instead widened more dangerously than at any other period of post-war history.

Every other crisis through which NATO has periodically passed has been of a tactical or marginal nature, and in the end it has been United States policy, power, influence, and diplomacy which could pretty much carry the day and the decisions. But the emergence of Europe, now in the most amazing period of economic expansion in its long history, has created a wholly new balance of power situation within the Alliance.

The widening gap today is strategic rather than tactical — and therefore far more fundamental, difficult, and dangerous. It boils down to the question of whether the Anglo-Saxon powers and the continental powers of Europe are going to find some new unity in this new balance of power situation inside NATO, or go their separate ways and hope for the best.

This is the great central issue for Britain in the Brussels negotiations for entry into the Common Market—whatever the arguments about preferential tariffs, agricultural levies, and semantical differences between "pledge" and "assure." It is political strategy and not economics which is at stake. For without British entry there is no vehicle by which the United States can then move down the path of interdependence and no framework within which the political, military, and economic problems of the Atlantic Community as a whole can be discussed with common purpose and resolved.

Knowing that the issues are so great for the Anglo-Saxon powers, knowing that the future of the Alliance is really at stake, and led by France with its intensely nationalistic sense of power politics, the continental powers are confidently pushing a very hard bargain with Britain. France, moreover, is the least concerned of any nation involved as to whether Brussels eventually fails or succeeds, and this gives a particular cutting edge to French diplomacy.

Apart from the problem of British entry into Europe, the gap between the Anglo-Saxon powers and the continent is widening on another front — the nuclear issue and the concept of defense. Here the Kennedy administration is caught up in a paradox, in which its theories, actions, and pronouncements of policy are producing exactly the opposite effect to that which is intended.

Every time Defense Secretary McNamara speaks of sparing cities and hitting only military targets with nuclear weapons, it simply confirms President de Gaulle and the French military theoreticians in their belief that nuclear defense of Europe cannot be left to the Americans — that Europe too must be able to make the choice of targets. When Washington deprecates French thinking as naive and unsophisticated, the French stiffen in wounded pride and determination to achieve their nuclear independence of Washington at any price.

The departures from Paris of Ambassador James M. Gavin and Gen. Lauris Norstad are part of the widening gap. Ambassador Gavin favored a policy of cooperation between the United States and France in the nuclear field—not the whole way yet to revision of the MacMahon Act, but at least some positive exploration to find out if the gap could be bridged and a nuclear partnership worked out similar to that with the British. He was turned down.

Gen. Norstad recommended that a new generation of American medium-range guided missiles be deployed on the continent of Europe to replace the tactical aircraft whose usefulness will be at an end in four or five years. The Administration has decided to rely entirely on sea-based Polaris missiles, and Gen. Norstad is departing more abruptly than he had expected.

These two men, who in a sense were urging greater "interdependence" than President Kennedy was prepared to accept, are to be replaced by experienced and solid non-political careerists —Charles E. Bohlen and Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer. But the abilities and skills which they will bring to their jobs will certainly not be directed to urging President Kennedy to change his nuclear policies.

There now lies ahead a period of pause. The Brussels talks have been suspended for two months while the British go off and reflect on the grouse moors of Scotland and the French bask the the Riviera sunshine. President Kennedy and Washington turn their attentions inward to the fall elections, and the guard changes at the American Embassy in Paris and Supreme Allied Headquarters.

A pause can be a period of positive reflection and the gathering of new decisions. But it also can allow a gap to solidify. One diplomatic venture which President Kennedy has not yet tried is a "Western summit," with President de Gaulle, Prime Minister Macmillan, and Chancellor Adenauer, at which the whole future of the Alliance with all of its conflicts and difficulties could be candidly faced and explored. It might be no bad time to prepare for such a meeting—before the gap widens further and while all are still friends.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MEDICARE — The Kennedy administration is still conducting post mortems on the death in the Senate of the medical care program. While fully recognizing the adverse 52-48 vote as the most serious legislative drubbing it has received at the hands of Congress, administration leaders are trying to find out what went wrong in order to avoid the same pitfalls next year.

Much has been made of the potent opposition of Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, who persuaded and cajoled a number of Southern Democrats to vote against putting medical care for the aged under social security. While it is true that Kerr played an important role, his opposition was not the deciding factor.

Of greater importance was the fact that the administration elected to bypass the Senate Finance Committee in bringing the medical care proposal to the Senate floor for a vote. This procedure challenged the entire committee structure in the Senate, and with Southerners holding the lion's share of committee chairmanships they voted against the program on procedural grounds.

Even more important is the tremendously influential role played by doctors throughout the South. The doctor is usually the pillar of the Southern community. He is a generous source of campaign contributions and a leader in political and social matters. It isn't easy for a Southern senator to vote against what has usually been the keystone of his backing in politics.

Nevertheless, the extremely close vote assures administration leaders that if normal procedures are used next year, a similar measure will be approved in the Senate. This still leaves the House vote as an unknown factor in getting the legislation through Congress, and this explains why President Kennedy wants to make Medicare the number one issue in the forthcoming congressional campaigns.

It's Like Hallowe'en

By John Crosby

TANGIERS

I asked Paul Bowles, the novelist who has lived here for many years and written about Tangiers with love and authority, whether Tangiers was indeed, as they say, dead. "I suppose it is," he said sadly, "and I hate to admit it. People are still coming here but with different ambitions, different expectations. There's no longer any element of a colony."

When they say dead, they are talking of the days when you could scarcely push your way through the Zaco Chico at 4 a. m. for the money-changers and smugglers and black marketeers, when Tangiers was a free port. Now the only large recent crowd in the Zaco Chico was caused when Anthony Quinn sat down for a cup of mint tea and almost caused a riot. "Anyone looking for quick profits is out of luck," said Bowles.

The money-changers have left, but now the beats, from everywhere, are pouring in because they hear they can smoke pot and be let alone. "The Village Voice runs ads for cheap houses in the Arab Quarter. Now they come here to speculate, not in money, but in the metaphysical conditions in North Africa. They come here to paint and write. Most of them don't make out here because it takes more perseverance than they possess," said Bowles wryly.

The American beats come on Yugoslav freighters where the fare is $110, the cheapest way—short of swimming—you can get across the Atlantic. Ira Cohen, who lives here in an Arab house, sipping at the waters of Moslem wisdom, a fair exchange, says of these cutrate Yugoslav fares:

"I'm sure there's something behind this—some deep Communist plot. The Yugos are trying to empty America. Or else they figure they'll scatter Americans all over the world where they'll cause trouble."

Well, the beats ("I call them the 8th Street Knicks," said Bowles. "The beats no longer exist") arrive and they are not 100 feet from the Yugoslav freighter before they are loaded down with pot (or kif or marijuana or tea or whatever name you like to give it) and paying six times what it's worth. "The place to hit," said one of the local experts in these matters, "is 100 feet from the boat or closer if you can get there. A man coming into a strange culture is stunned and open and vulnerable. After the first 100 feet, he begins to harden, but if you can get him in the first 100 feet, you can get him deeply involved with you—change his money, sell him kif or women or young boys—and take charge of him and he'll have trouble getting uninvolved. The Japanese know this and the Moroccans know this."

Tangiers has an international reputation as a place to go to pot in, but then you run into someone like Bowles. Bowles has lived here for years and not only has he not gone to pot, but he gets enormous amounts of excellent writing done, more than he could get done anywhere else.

"Tangiers doesn't make a man disintegrate," said Bowles, "but it does attract people who are going to disintegrate anyway. This life attracts them. Life is so easy here, so cheap, and the climate is marvellous. If you're going to go to hell, you can do it here more cheaply and more pleasantly than in Greenwich Village."

Ira Cohen, who has a delivery and a style very much like that of Mort Sahl and can be every bit as funny, was telling me about his first day in Tangiers. "A man comes up to me and throws two black socks on the ground—bam bam—like that. Out of the socks come two snakes sticking their little forked tongues out at me. Then the man puts a big spike up his nose. Well, I was impressed. Why not?"

The other peculiarity of Tangiers, at least to my unaccustomed eyes: no women. Well, of course there are women, but they are robed to the ground and veiled to the cheekbones and that doesn't leave much woman to look at. When we first arrived in Tangier, a couple of these robed and veiled figures slithered past us. An American girl I was with who had never been here before either exclaimed: "It's like Halloween." And she's right. Any moment I expected one of these little figures to come up to me and say, "Trick or treat."

"There are no girls here," says Ira Cohen. "I don't want to get hung up with some Arab girl. I'd look like an idiot being pushed into some restaurant where I don't want to go by some girl while all the other guys have got their women locked up at home under a veil."

That's the first thing you notice when you get to Western civilization, too. Girls. Girls with their faces hanging out, unabashed and unashamed. Gave me quite a turn.

New Acne Remedy Will Be Boon To Teen-agers

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A logical remedy for acne may be just around the corner. This drug, related chemically to the female sex hormones, suppresses oiliness in the skin. It has a mile long name — 16-epiestrol-3-allyl ether. In a preliminary report, Dr. Walter C. Herold of Colorado Springs, says only three out of 27 patients failed to show improvement.

Acne is a combination of oily skin, pimples, and blackheads. Deeper abscesses develop in the neglected or more severe form of the disease. The condition starts during the teens when the sex glands are beginning to surge.

In many respects, acne is part of this picture because the oil secreting glands of the skin have growing pains, in much the same way as do the reproductive glands. This endocrine overactivity usually is temporary and disappears when hormonal balance is re-established.

There must be something in these adolescent sex hormones that affects the oil secreting glands of the skin. If this constituent could be isolated or made synthetically, we might be able to produce an antidote to the excessive sebaceous activity without disturbing the internal secretions.

Dr. Herold's new product may have these qualities. Time will tell but the new chemical will not be given the green light until it is determined it will not disturb the hormonal balance.

Dirt and infection also play a role in acne. Cleanliness goes a long way toward eliminating blackheads by keeping the pores clean and the skin dry. Dr. John H. Hicks of Miami used an antibiotic that is lethal to a wide variety of micro-organisms of the skin. It, too, has a jawbreaking name — dimethylchlortetracycline. This agent was given to 30 persons with acne and 83 per cent had a good to excellent response.

But the product has one main drawback. Approximately 35 per cent of the users became sensitive to the sun while undergoing treatment. Changes in the fingernails also were noted. These side effects demonstrate again that the antibiotics, wonderful as they are, should not be used for skin conditions that usually improve with simpler remedies.

The sulfonamides also are of value when pustules develop. But long continued usage of these drugs is not advised.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on acne if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Leonard Spiegelgass, author of "A Majority of One," had a much-sought-after talent when he was an ace scenarist in Hollywood. He specialized in slick endings. Other writers would fashion the beginning and middle of a script, and then, when they bogged down, would implore Spiegelgass to give it a clever conclusion. He rarely let them down.

Spiegelgass remembers one film star who flatly disapproved of one of his ingenious endings. Her name was Grace Kelly. Spiegelgass asked her why. Back came the regal reply, "Grace Kelly doesn't have to have a reason!"

A lecturer was instructing a ladies' club gathering on "What's Wrong With the Movies Today."

"The one I saw last night," he concluded, "is the worst yet. It includes murder, rape, arson, cannibalism, and perversion. If anything will justify censorship, this vile picture will do it. Now then, ladies, have you any questions?"

"Yes," cried three ladies in the audience simultaneously. "Where's it playing?"

For without British entry there is no vehicle by which the United States can then move down the path of interdependence and no framework within which the political, military, and economic problems of the Atlantic Community as a whole can be discussed with common purpose and resolved.

Knowing that the issues are so great for the Anglo-Saxon powers, knowing that the future of the Alliance is really at stake, and led by France with its intensely nationalistic sense of power politics, the continental powers are confidently pushing a very hard bargain with Britain. France, moreover, is the least concerned of any nation involved as to whether Brussels eventually fails or succeeds, and this gives a particular cutting edge to French diplomacy.

Apart from the problem of British entry into Europe, the gap between the Anglo-Saxon powers and the continent is widening on another front — the nuclear issue and the concept of defense. Here the Kennedy administration is caught up in a paradox, in which its theories, actions, and pronouncements of policy are producing exactly the opposite effect to that which is intended.

Every time Defense Secretary McNamara speaks of sparing cities and hitting only military targets with nuclear weapons, it simply confirms President de Gaulle and the French military theoreticians in their belief that nuclear defense of Europe cannot be left to the Americans — that Europe too must be able to make the choice of targets. When Washington deprecates French thinking as naive and unsophisticated, the French stiffen in wounded pride and determination to achieve their nuclear independence of Washington at any price.

The departures from Paris of Ambassador James M. Gavin and Gen. Lauris Norstad are part of the widening gap. Ambassador Gavin favored a policy of cooperation between the United States and France in the nuclear field—not the whole way yet to revision of the MacMahon Act, but at least some positive exploration to find out if the gap could be bridged and a nuclear partnership worked out similar to that with the British. He was turned down.

Gen. Norstad recommended that a new generation of American medium-range guided missiles be deployed on the continent of Europe to replace the tactical aircraft whose usefulness will be at an end in four or five years. The Administration has decided to rely entirely on sea-based Polaris missiles, and Gen. Norstad is departing more abruptly than he had expected.

These two men, who in a sense were urging greater "interdependence" than President Kennedy was prepared to accept, are to be replaced by experienced and solid non-political careerists —Charles E. Bohlen and Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer. But the abilities and skills which they will bring to their jobs will certainly not be directed to urging President Kennedy to change his nuclear policies.

There now lies ahead a period of pause. The Brussels talks have been suspended for two months while the British go off and reflect on the grouse moors of Scotland and the French bask the the Riviera sunshine. President Kennedy and Washington turn their attentions inward to the fall elections, and the guard changes at the American Embassy in Paris and Supreme Allied Headquarters.

A pause can be a period of positive reflection and the gathering of new decisions. But it also can allow a gap to solidify. One diplomatic venture which President Kennedy has not yet tried is a "Western summit," with President de Gaulle, Prime Minister Macmillan, and Chancellor Adenauer, at which the whole future of the Alliance with all of its conflicts and difficulties could be candidly faced and explored. It might be no bad time to prepare for such a meeting—before the gap widens further and while all are still friends.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MEDICARE — The Kennedy administration is still conducting post mortems on the death in the Senate of the medical care program. While fully recognizing the adverse 52-48 vote as the most serious legislative drubbing it has received at the hands of Congress, administration leaders are trying to find out what went wrong in order to avoid the same pitfalls next year.

Much has been made of the potent opposition of Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, who persuaded and cajoled a number of Southern Democrats to vote against putting medical care for the aged under social security. While it is true that Kerr played an important role, his opposition was not the deciding factor.

Of greater importance was the fact that the administration elected to bypass the Senate Finance Committee in bringing the medical care proposal to the Senate floor for a vote. This procedure challenged the entire committee structure in the Senate, and with Southerners holding the lion's share of committee chairmanships they voted against the program on procedural grounds.

Even more important is the tremendously influential role played by doctors throughout the South. The doctor is usually the pillar of the Southern community. He is a generous source of campaign contributions and a leader in political and social matters. It isn't easy for a Southern senator to vote against what has usually been the keystone of his backing in politics.

Nevertheless, the extremely close vote assures administration leaders that if normal procedures are used next year, a similar measure will be approved in the Senate. This still leaves the House vote as an unknown factor in getting the legislation through Congress, and this explains why President Kennedy wants to make Medicare the number one issue in the forthcoming congressional campaigns.

Bureaucrats Ignore Presidential Directives, Pursue Own Policies

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's note: Drew Pearson is touring the Balkans. In his absence, his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Sometimes not even the President of the United States can budge the bureaucrats who are supposed to carry out his policies but often prefer their own ways.

Take, for instance, the official policy toward tungsten, a strategic metal which goes into such diversified items as armor-piercing shells and electric light bulbs.

Following World War II, Uncle Sam began stockpiling tungsten until a mountain of the stuff had piled up. Still, the government bought more tungsten, spurred on during the late 1950s by President Eisenhower's minerals chief, Royce Hardy.

It may be only coincidental that his family has been interested in tungsten.

Hardy, of course, joined the Republican exodus out of government in 1961, but he left behind the bureaucrats who had gotten into the habit of hoarding tungsten.

By the time the Democrats took custody of the stockpile, enough tungsten had accumulated to last the country 16 years. Indeed, President Kennedy found Uncle Sam up to his top hate in strategic materials and reversed Eisenhower's purchase policy.

Kennedy not only explained the change in policy at a press conference, but issued an executive order to the stockpilers to get rid of the over-supply.

Reading about this in the newspapers, the light-bulb people came to Uncle Sam last March for 5,000,000 pounds of tungsten from the stockpile. Most of it was needed by Sylvania to make lamps for the government.

Hardy's holdovers in the Minerals Resources Branch had not only one, but two official reasons for approving the transaction.

First, the sale would have made scarcely a dent in the mountain of tungsten which the President had ordered reduced.

Second, the light-bulb manufacturers had no alternative but to buy the tungsten overseas if they couldn't get it from the stockpile. This amounted to a whopping expenditure of $10,000,000 — an outflow of dollars which Kennedy desperately wants to curb.

But old habits are hard for bureaucrats to break. The Minerals Resources people, stubbornly sticking to the old Hardy policy and ignoring the new instructions from the White House, blocked the sale.

Washington Whispers

Secret Service bodyguards are fond of the first family but can't stand the President's brother-in-law, Peter Lawford. The actor treats them like parlor servants. "Boy," he will say, "bring my bags" or "fetch me a drink" . . . grumbled one agent privately: "We don't mind wet-nursing Caroline, but we hate to wet-nurse Lawford" . . . On the other hand, the agents adore Jacqueline Kennedy who sometimes drops into their squad room, hoists herself side-saddle upon a desk, and chats amiably with them . . . General Lauris Norstad had no inkling that he would be replaced as NATO commander when he was summoned to Washington last month on two days' notice; although he had suffered two mild heart attacks, he didn't plan to retire until next year. Even as he was getting the word at the White House, his wife was inviting friends to visit them in Paris this fall. . . . Dignified housing officials were dismayed last week over invitations to attend a pajama party. The joint hosts: Joe McMurray, chairman of the Home Loan Bank Board, and Carl Coan, staff director of the Senate Housing Subcommittee. . . . Rather than offend such powers in the housing field, some guests grudgingly showed up in their nightwear. After dinner and drinks, some trudged off to a community pajama ball. But a few sneaked home, and (being appropriately dressed for it) went to bed.

Numbers Raid

A routine raid upon a Chelsea, Mass., numbers parlor dramatizes how nickel-and-dime bets can run into the millions, providing the cold cash that finances the underworld and pays literally for murder.

Here is a revealing excerpt from the confidential report to Attorney General Robert Kennedy on the Chelsea raid:

"Although the average bet was approximately 30 to 35 cents a day, the operation grossed $2,500,000, of which 25 per cent was paid to the number writers and 35 per cent paid out to the winners. This means an annual net income of $1,000,000 a year.

"There were 26,000 wakers per day. These figures are a graphic illustration of how a nickel-and-dime numbers game can generate tremendous sums of cash."

Sea Dog's Tricks

It's hard to teach an old sea dog new tricks, but retired Admiral Leroy V. Honsinger is learning.

The former commander of the Mare Island, Calif., shipyard decided to run for Congress on the Republican ticket, but he had a terrible time deciding how to register.

On December 1, he registered as "Leroy V. Honsinger, Rear Admiral, U. S. Navy."

Then on April 2, he re-registered as "retired naval officer, 230 Sonora Pass."

But on June 21, he registered again as "Leroy Vernon Honsinger, industrial management engineer." Apparently, he decided more people would vote for an industrial engineer than a retired admiral.

Finally, on June 22, he re-registered again as L. V. "Mike" Honsinger. By this time, he had discovered that the common touch is important in politics.

It's Like Hallowe'en

TANGIERS

I asked Paul Bowles, the novelist who has lived here for many years and written about Tangiers with love and authority, whether Tangiers was indeed, as they say, dead. "I suppose it is," he said sadly, "and I hate to admit it. People are still coming here but with different ambitions, different expectations. There's no longer any element of a colony."

When they say dead, they are talking of the days when you could scarcely push your way through the Zaco Chico at 4 a. m. for the money-changers and smugglers and black marketeers, when Tangiers was a free port. Now the only large recent crowd in the Zaco Chico was caused when Anthony Quinn sat down for a cup of mint tea and almost caused a riot. "Anyone looking for quick profits is out of luck," said Bowles.

The money-changers have left, but now the beats, from everywhere, are pouring in because they hear they can smoke pot and be let alone. "The Village Voice runs ads for cheap houses in the Arab Quarter. Now they come here to speculate, not in money, but in the metaphysical conditions in North Africa. They come here to paint and write. Most of them don't make out here because it takes more perseverance than they possess," said Bowles wryly.

The American beats come on Yugoslav freighters where the fare is $110, the cheapest way—short of swimming—you can get across the Atlantic. Ira Cohen, who lives here in an Arab house, sipping at the waters of Moslem wisdom, a fair exchange, says of these cutrate Yugoslav fares:

"I'm sure there's something behind this—some deep Communist plot. The Yugos are trying to empty America. Or else they figure they'll scatter Americans all over the world where they'll cause trouble."

Well, the beats ("I call them the 8th Street Knicks," said Bowles. "The beats no longer exist") arrive and they are not 100 feet from the Yugoslav freighter before they are loaded down with pot (or kif or marijuana or tea or whatever name you like to give it) and paying six times what it's worth. "The place to hit," said one of the local experts in these matters, "is 100 feet from the boat or closer if you can get there. A man coming into a strange culture is stunned and open and vulnerable. After the first 100 feet, he begins to harden, but if you can get him in the first 100 feet, you can get him deeply involved with you—change his money, sell him kif or women or young boys—and take charge of him and he'll have trouble getting uninvolved. The Japanese know this and the Moroccans know this."

Tangiers has an international reputation as a place to go to pot in, but then you run into someone like Bowles. Bowles has lived here for years and not only has he not gone to pot, but he gets enormous amounts of excellent writing done, more than he could get done anywhere else.

"Tangiers doesn't make a man disintegrate," said Bowles, "but it does attract people who are going to disintegrate anyway. This life attracts them. Life is so easy here, so cheap, and the climate is marvellous. If you're going to go to hell, you can do it here more cheaply and more pleasantly than in Greenwich Village."

Ira Cohen, who has a delivery and a style very much like that of Mort Sahl and can be every bit as funny, was telling me about his first day in Tangiers. "A man comes up to me and throws two black socks on the ground—bam bam—like that. Out of the socks come two snakes sticking their little forked tongues out at me. Then the man puts a big spike up his nose. Well, I was impressed. Why not?"

The other peculiarity of Tangiers, at least to my unaccustomed eyes: no women. Well, of course there are women, but they are robed to the ground and veiled to the cheekbones and that doesn't leave much woman to look at. When we first arrived in Tangier, a couple of these robed and veiled figures slithered past us. An American girl I was with who had never been here before either exclaimed: "It's like Halloween." And she's right. Any moment I expected one of these little figures to come up to me and say, "Trick or treat."

"There are no girls here," says Ira Cohen. "I don't want to get hung up with some Arab girl. I'd look like an idiot being pushed into some restaurant where I don't want to go by some girl while all the other guys have got their women locked up at home under a veil."

That's the first thing you notice when you get to Western civilization, too. Girls. Girls with their faces hanging out, unabashed and unashamed. Gave me quite a turn.

New Acne Remedy Will Be Boon To Teen-agers

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A logical remedy for acne may be just around the corner. This drug, related chemically to the female sex hormones, suppresses oiliness in the skin. It has a mile long name — 16-epiestrol-3-allyl ether. In a preliminary report, Dr. Walter C. Herold of Colorado Springs, says only three out of 27 patients failed to show improvement.

Acne is a combination of oily skin, pimples, and blackheads. Deeper abscesses develop in the neglected or more severe form of the disease. The condition starts during the teens when the sex glands are beginning to surge.

In many respects, acne is part of this picture because the oil secreting glands of the skin have growing pains, in much the same way as do the reproductive glands. This endocrine overactivity usually is temporary and disappears when hormonal balance is re-established.

There must be something in these adolescent sex hormones that affects the oil secreting glands of the skin. If this constituent could be isolated or made synthetically, we might be able to produce an antidote to the excessive sebaceous activity without disturbing the internal secretions.

Dr. Herold's new product may have these qualities. Time will tell but the new chemical will not be given the green light until it is determined it will not disturb the hormonal balance.

Dirt and infection also play a role in acne. Cleanliness goes a long way toward eliminating blackheads by keeping the pores clean and the skin dry. Dr. John H. Hicks of Miami used an antibiotic that is lethal to a wide variety of micro-organisms of the skin. It, too, has a jawbreaking name — dimethylchlortetracycline. This agent was given to 30 persons with acne and 83 per cent had a good to excellent response.

But the product has one main drawback. Approximately 35 per cent of the users became sensitive to the sun while undergoing treatment. Changes in the fingernails also were noted. These side effects demonstrate again that the antibiotics, wonderful as they are, should not be used for skin conditions that usually improve with simpler remedies.

The sulfonamides also are of value when pustules develop. But long continued usage of these drugs is not advised.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on acne if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Leonard Spiegelgass, author of "A Majority of One," had a much-sought-after talent when he was an ace scenarist in Hollywood. He specialized in slick endings. Other writers would fashion the beginning and middle of a script, and then, when they bogged down, would implore Spiegelgass to give it a clever conclusion. He rarely let them down.

Spiegelgass remembers one film star who flatly disapproved of one of his ingenious endings. Her name was Grace Kelly. Spiegelgass asked her why. Back came the regal reply, "Grace Kelly doesn't have to have a reason!"

A lecturer was instructing a ladies' club gathering on "What's Wrong With the Movies Today."

"The one I saw last night," he concluded, "is the worst yet. It includes murder, rape, arson, cannibalism, and perversion. If anything will justify censorship, this vile picture will do it. Now then, ladies, have you any questions?"

"Yes," cried three ladies in the audience simultaneously. "Where's it playing?"

Braised Steak With Blue Cheese

Experienced homemakers agree that it is easier to cook for a family than for just two people.

Young homemakers often find it hard to create interesting menu patterns. The key to the problem, according to home economists, is to be able to serve traditional favorites without having leftovers.

Simple braised steak, for instance, becomes an imaginative entree for two when topped with zesty American blue cheese. There's just enough pungency in the blue-marbled cheese to give a gourmet flair to the budget dish.

Beef and blue cheese are natural flavormates, so this dish is bound to score a hit with the male appetite.

BRAISED BLUE CHEESE STEAK
(Two Servings)

1 pound round steak
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup flour
1 tablespoon drippings
1 teaspoon diced onion
Piece bay leaf
1 8-ounce can tomatoes
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces)

Cut steak in two pieces. Mix salt and flour; pound this mixture into sides of the steak with potato masher or edge of plate. Heat drippings in heavy pan. Add onion and bay leaf. Then add steak and brown both sides quickly. Turn heat low, add tomatoes, cover pan tightly, and simmer about 1 hour. When meat is almost tender, remove cover and sprinkle crumbled blue cheese on steak. Let cook about 5 minutes longer or until cheese begins to melt. Serve at once.

Sauerbraten

¾ cup beer or ale
1½ cups vinegar
¾ cup water
3 onions, sliced
2 tablespoons mixed pickling spices
4 pounds boned rump, round or chuck pot roast
3 bay leaves
2 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons fat
⅓ cup gingersnap crumbs
½ cup commercial sour cream

To marinate: Combine beer, vinegar, water, onion slices, pickling spices and bay leaves in a large deep bowl. Add meat. Allow to marinate 2 to 4 days, turning meat occasionally.

To cook: Remove meat from marinade; pat dry. Reserve marinade. Blend together flour, salt and pepper; roll meat in mixture. Heat fat in heavy kettle; add meat and brown thoroughly on all sides, about 15 to 20 minutes. Add ¾ cup of the reserver marinade. Cover tightly. Cook over low heat 3½ to 4 hours or until meat is tender, adding small amount marinade if necessary. Remove meat to heated platter. To prepare gravy, drain drippings from kettle. Measure and return ⅓ cup. Blend in gingersnap crumbs. Stir in 2 cups strained marinade. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in sour cream, heat, but do not boil. YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

Looks elaborate but isn't: Take bakers sponge cake shells. In each one put a big spoonful of canned apple sauce, then a scoop of vanilla ice cream and top all with blueberry sauce, or with the fresh berries. This dessert is guaranteed to charm the Young any time.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am in sympathy with "In Sympathy." She was the long-suffering physician's wife who wrote to say her husband had to give up going to church on Sunday because he was constantly pestered by people who wanted curbstone opinions and free medical advice.

A dear friend of mine solved the problem in this manner:

The town bore who was notorious for chiseling everything and anything, collared this good-natured doctor at a cocktail party. She pulled him into a corner and began to describe in detail the shooting pains in her hip and leg.

The doctor looked her square in the eye, and in his most professional way said, "Undress."

That did it. The woman has never gone near him since. — WANDERING TEXAN

DEAR TEXAN: I'm glad it worked for him but I wouldn't recommend this technique for everyone. Some women would be only too happy to take him at his word!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think about an adult man getting up at a party and doing an imitation of the President of the United States?

He messed up his hair and pinned his suitcoat in the back so it would fit tight. He folded up his pants cuffs so they'd be short. Then he began to speak with an exaggerated Eastern accent, emphasizing such words as Democratic "pah-ty," "Cuber" and "Afriker." Everyone was in stitches.

I felt it was in bad taste and not the least bit funny. After all, the presidency is the highest office of the land, and every American should have respect for the office. When I didn't laugh along with the others I was told that I lack a sense of humor.

What is your opinion? — D. L.

DEAR D. L.: One of the hallmarks of a healthy democracy is that we can poke fun at the highest office of the land and not be afraid of a knock at the door.

The Roosevelts were probably the most imitated Americans of the century because they were distinctive individuals. It is well known that the Roosevelts were vastly amused by these imitations. I'm sure President Kennedy would laugh loudest if he could see some of the imitations of himself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a young man who needs an unbiased opinion. The girl I'm in love with has some wonderful qualities. She wants to get married but I'm afraid of her suspicious nature.

Ruth came from a broken home. Her father cheated on her mother left and right. They were divorced. Her stepfather was a chaser, too. You can understand why she doesn't have much faith in men.

I'm not the cheating kind and have not even looked sideways at another girl since we became pinned last year. Yet she doesn't take my word for anything. She phones the bowling alley to make sure I'm there. She calls my apartment and asks my roommate if he knows where I am after I've told her exactly where I plan to be. She has phoned my parents' home (long distance) to make sure I didn't go somewhere else for the weekend.

Ruth is 22. Do you think she'll outgrow this or will she be this way forever? I don't think I could stand a wife who was always checking. — BRUCE

DEAR BRUCE: Understanding WHY she is like this helps, but it's no cure. This girl needs professional help.

If she is reluctant to explore the problem with a specialist you would be wise to unwind the romance — or prepare for a life of hunting and checking.

Individuals who are suspicious without cause sometimes develop over-active imaginations. After a while they are unable to separate fact from fiction. Then it's too late.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Braised Steak With Blue Cheese

Experienced homemakers agree that it is easier to cook for a family than for just two people.

Young homemakers often find it hard to create interesting menu patterns. The key to the problem, according to home economists, is to be able to serve traditional favorites without having leftovers.

Simple braised steak, for instance, becomes an imaginative entree for two when topped with zesty American blue cheese. There's just enough pungency in the blue-marbled cheese to give a gourmet flair to the budget dish.

Beef and blue cheese are natural flavormates, so this dish is bound to score a hit with the male appetite.

BRAISED BLUE CHEESE STEAK
(Two Servings)

1 pound round steak
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup flour
1 tablespoon drippings
1 teaspoon diced onion
Piece bay leaf
1 8-ounce can tomatoes
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces)

Cut steak in two pieces. Mix salt and flour; pound this mixture into sides of the steak with potato masher or edge of plate. Heat drippings in heavy pan. Add onion and bay leaf. Then add steak and brown both sides quickly. Turn heat low, add tomatoes, cover pan tightly, and simmer about 1 hour. When meat is almost tender, remove cover and sprinkle crumbled blue cheese on steak. Let cook about 5 minutes longer or until cheese begins to melt. Serve at once.

Sauerbraten

¾ cup beer or ale
1½ cups vinegar
¾ cup water
3 onions, sliced
2 tablespoons mixed pickling spices
4 pounds boned rump, round or chuck pot roast
3 bay leaves
2 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons fat
⅓ cup gingersnap crumbs
½ cup commercial sour cream

To marinate: Combine beer, vinegar, water, onion slices, pickling spices and bay leaves in a large deep bowl. Add meat. Allow to marinate 2 to 4 days, turning meat occasionally.

To cook: Remove meat from marinade; pat dry. Reserve marinade. Blend together flour, salt and pepper; roll meat in mixture. Heat fat in heavy kettle; add meat and brown thoroughly on all sides, about 15 to 20 minutes. Add ¾ cup of the reserver marinade. Cover tightly. Cook over low heat 3½ to 4 hours or until meat is tender, adding small amount marinade if necessary. Remove meat to heated platter. To prepare gravy, drain drippings from kettle. Measure and return ⅓ cup. Blend in gingersnap crumbs. Stir in 2 cups strained marinade. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in sour cream, heat, but do not boil. YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

Looks elaborate but isn't: Take bakers sponge cake shells. In each one put a big spoonful of canned apple sauce, then a scoop of vanilla ice cream and top all with blueberry sauce, or with the fresh berries. This dessert is guaranteed to charm the Young any time.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am in sympathy with "In Sympathy." She was the long-suffering physician's wife who wrote to say her husband had to give up going to church on Sunday because he was constantly pestered by people who wanted curbstone opinions and free medical advice.

A dear friend of mine solved the problem in this manner:

The town bore who was notorious for chiseling everything and anything, collared this good-natured doctor at a cocktail party. She pulled him into a corner and began to describe in detail the shooting pains in her hip and leg.

The doctor looked her square in the eye, and in his most professional way said, "Undress."

That did it. The woman has never gone near him since. — WANDERING TEXAN

DEAR TEXAN: I'm glad it worked for him but I wouldn't recommend this technique for everyone. Some women would be only too happy to take him at his word!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think about an adult man getting up at a party and doing an imitation of the President of the United States?

He messed up his hair and pinned his suitcoat in the back so it would fit tight. He folded up his pants cuffs so they'd be short. Then he began to speak with an exaggerated Eastern accent, emphasizing such words as Democratic "pah-ty," "Cuber" and "Afriker." Everyone was in stitches.

I felt it was in bad taste and not the least bit funny. After all, the presidency is the highest office of the land, and every American should have respect for the office. When I didn't laugh along with the others I was told that I lack a sense of humor.

What is your opinion? — D. L.

DEAR D. L.: One of the hallmarks of a healthy democracy is that we can poke fun at the highest office of the land and not be afraid of a knock at the door.

The Roosevelts were probably the most imitated Americans of the century because they were distinctive individuals. It is well known that the Roosevelts were vastly amused by these imitations. I'm sure President Kennedy would laugh loudest if he could see some of the imitations of himself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a young man who needs an unbiased opinion. The girl I'm in love with has some wonderful qualities. She wants to get married but I'm afraid of her suspicious nature.

Ruth came from a broken home. Her father cheated on her mother left and right. They were divorced. Her stepfather was a chaser, too. You can understand why she doesn't have much faith in men.

I'm not the cheating kind and have not even looked sideways at another girl since we became pinned last year. Yet she doesn't take my word for anything. She phones the bowling alley to make sure I'm there. She calls my apartment and asks my roommate if he knows where I am after I've told her exactly where I plan to be. She has phoned my parents' home (long distance) to make sure I didn't go somewhere else for the weekend.

Ruth is 22. Do you think she'll outgrow this or will she be this way forever? I don't think I could stand a wife who was always checking. — BRUCE

DEAR BRUCE: Understanding WHY she is like this helps, but it's no cure. This girl needs professional help.

If she is reluctant to explore the problem with a specialist you would be wise to unwind the romance — or prepare for a life of hunting and checking.

Individuals who are suspicious without cause sometimes develop over-active imaginations. After a while they are unable to separate fact from fiction. Then it's too late.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

One of the most interesting phenomena of the legislative process in Congress, the institution known as the conference committee, entered into the affairs of our Sixth Congressional District of Maryland last week.

When the Senate and the House do not see eye to eye on certain features of legislative matters, the differences have to be resolved by a conference. The conference is composed of members appointed by the Senate and by the House, who get together and try to agree on a compromise that will satisfy a majority in each of the Houses of Congress.

During the past week a conference committee has dealt with appropriations for the Department of the Interior. I am very glad to be able to report that the Antietam Battlefield — certainly one of the most important Civil War sites in the entire country— will benefit again this year from funds which will be appropriated for the acquisition of more land and for the development of facilities at the battlefield site.

Earlier this year the sum of $1,400,000 had been requested for the purchase of Civil War lands at a number of sites. The House approved $400,000 for this purpose. The Senate was a little more generous than the House, but the conferees agreed to $400,000, the figure first set by the House. Fortunately, because the National Park Service has $600,000 remaining from previous appropriations, there is today over a million dollars available for the acquisition of Civil War battlefield sites. The encouraging thing for Maryland is that for the coming year the National Park Service will allocate the sum of $260,800 for the acquisition of lands at Antietam Battlefield.

In the report of the conference committee there is also encouragment and hope for those of us who travel the highways around the city of Washington. All commuters who travel daily from the Maryland suburbs into the District of Columbia will be glad to know that three million dollars has been provided for the salaries of employees of the National Capital Transportation Agency and for contracting work to be let by the Agency. As you know, the Agency is due to report to the Congress on the first of November of this year on its recommendations for plans and programs and its suggestions concerning rapid transit, highways and other means of transportation which will reduce the traffic clog which makes it difficult to get into and out of the city of Washington. The bill provides $100,000 to matched equally by the state of Maryland to complete the acquisition of lands for the extension of the George Washington Memorial Parkway from the District of Columbia to the new Cabin John Bridge. Incidentally, the Cabin John Bridge will be opened sometime during the latter part of 1962 —another help for our travelers and commuters in the Washington Metropolitan Area.

A sum of money also has been appropriated and approved by the conference committee for the acquisition of the land for an extra wide median strip for Interstate Route 95. We need this wider strip in the middle in order that there may be land available if it is ultimately decided to put a rapid transit system between the dual lines of traffic.

Finally, it is extremely encouraging that we obtained the approval of the conference committee for $150,000 for stibilizing the banks of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal. The stabilization program will be limited to the area which would be above possible inundation should the Potomac River ever be dammed. This is an important step forward in preserving this national monument and I look forward to the day when this work will be incorporated into the canal property as part of a National Historical Park.

Clam Pie On Shell

To open a hard clam, hold it in the palm of one hand with the shell's hinge against the palm. Insert a slender, strong, sharp knife between the halves of the shell and cut around the clam, twisting the knife slightly to pry open the shell.

Cut both muscles free from the two halves of the shell. If it is to be served on the half shell, remove only one half of the shell. For other recipes, remove and rinse the meat.

An alternate method is to place the shell clams after washing in a small quantity of boiling water. Cover and steam 5 to 10 minutes or until they are partially open. Drain, remove and wash the meat from the shells.

- 2 7-oz. cans minced clams or 1 pt. shucked clams
- 1 cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup butter or other fat, melted
- ¼ cup flour
- Dash pepper
- 2 cups clam liquor and water
- ½ cup diced cooked carrots
- ½ cup chopped cooked celery
- 3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 1½ cups seasoned mashed potatoes

Drain clams and save liquor. Cook onion in butter until tender. Blend in flour and pepper; add liquor and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add carrots, celery, egg and clams. Place in a well-greased 1½ quart casserole. Cover with potatoes. Bake in a hot oven, 425° F. for 20 to 25 minutes or until brown. Serves 6.

Fish Fillets Italiano

Fish fillets are born tender. So they are cooked mainly for flavor . . . gently, to preserve their own delicate succulence, and just long enough to gain from a tactful blend of seasonings. This is certainly true with these Poached Fish Fillets, Italiano.

When they are served, guests may speculate how a hint of garlic, herbs and the flavor of white wine actually seem a part of the natural goodness of the fish. Well, tell them if you wish. Or just smile, and hold the delicious secret to yourself. And a delightfully simple one it is.

These fillets are marinated ahead of time in a little white wine and Italian dressing. They take unto themselves the bouquet of the wine, and a lightly pungent touch of the garlic and marjoram and other herbs from the dressing. Then the fillets are quietly poached in the very same marinade. Finally, in the serving, what remains of the sauce is spooned over them. It all adds up to a dish so delicately distinctive in flavor it could well become one of your prideful "specialties of the house."

Nice accomplishments would be crusty French bread and chilled celery stalks. And, for dessert, fresh berries sprinkled with nutmeg, circled with cream, served with tall glasses of iced tea.

Poached Fish Fillets, Italiano

- 1 pound fillet of flounder
- ½ cup Italian Dressing
- ⅓ cup white wine
- 1½ teaspoons cornstarch
- ⅓ cup milk
- 1 hard-cooked egg, finely chopped
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Wash and dry fillets; marinate in salad dressing and wine for ½ hour. Pour off marinade into fry pan; heat at 250 degrees for 2 to 3 minutes. Carefully lay fillets in pan and poach for about 6 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Stir cornstarch into milk. Then, tilting fry pan slightly, add to cooking liquid on lower side of pan. Stir to thicken.* Level pan so that sauce flows back over fillets. Sprinkle with chopped egg and parsley. Makes 4 servings.

*Or remove fillets to warm platter and make sauce in the fry pan. Pour over fillets and garnish.

Note: If you do not have an electric skillet, use regular skillet on top of the range, over low heat.

Peaches For All

For enough filling for four 9-inch peach pies: Peel and slice about 9 pounds of fresh potatoes and measure out 1 gallon (4 quarts or 16 cups) of water. Dissolve 1 teaspoon ascorbic acid in the gallon of water, dip the peaches in the solution and drain. Mix peaches with 3½ cups sugar, ½ cup plus 2 tablespoons quick-cooling tapioca, ¼ cup lemon juice and a dash of salt. Line four 8-inch pie pans with heavyweight aluminum foil and spoon 1 quart (4 cups) filling into each pan. Cover loosely and freeze. Wrap frozen portions tightly, remove packages from the pans, and stack in the freezer until needed.

To use the frozen filling in baking a peach pie, remove a frozen portion from the freezer and discard the foil. Put the frozen filling into an unbaked 9-inch pastry shell, dot with butter, add a top crust and seal. Perforate the top crust to allow steam to escape. Bake in 425° F. oven 60 to 65 minutes. Serve a la mode for a delectable dessert.

If there are young children in the family, they'll especially enjoy a Merry-Go-Round Peach Pie — a blend of fresh peaches and vanilla pudding set in a crisp cookie crust.

THE CRUST — First roll out 1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs. Place wafers on a piece of wax paper and chrush them with a rolling pin. Blend the crumbs well with 3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine. Turn the crumbs into a 9-inch glass pie pan and press firmly and evenly against the bottom of the pan. Stand animal crackers close together against the side of the pan to form the side of the crust. Chill until firm.

THE FILLING — Prepare a package of vanilla pudding and pie filling mix according to directions on the package, using 1¾ cups milk for the liquid, and let cool 5 minutes. Arrange a generous layer of sliced fresh peaches in the cookie pie shell and pour in the pudding. Chill until set.

TO COMPLETE THE MERRY-GO-ROUND — Poke a stick of peppermint candy into the center of the pie and run streamers from it to each animal cracker. For the streamers use whipped cream or a whipped topping made from evaporated milk or nonfat dry milk. Apply the whipped streamers with a pastry tube or cone-shaped piece of waxed paper. Arrange chunks of fresh peaches around the peppermint "pole."

Season with salt and pepper and 2 or more tablespoons of tomato sauce. Stir lightly with a fork, lifting to the center as the eggs cook.

Serve at once. Over-cooking spoils color, texture—and flavor.

Week's Food Economies

August marks the late summer season but it is the peak season for many of the fine foods that can make living easy, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist, Baltimore office, University of Maryland, Department of Markets.

Supplies of fresh market vegetables will be seasonally heavier into September. Supplies of both canned and frozen vegetables into September are expected to be a little larger than a year earlier. The best buys include fresh sweet corn, tomatoes, cabbage, green peppers and lima beans. This is but a small portion of vegetables on the market. The choice is wide for a table set with cool summery vegetable dishes.

For price advantage frozen orange juice is currently the lowest in cost per serving of any citrus. This year, Florida's crop of frozen concentrate reached a record of 115 million gallons, 31 million more than last year. California orange supplies are lighter this year than last.

The best fruit buys remain peaches, watermelon and cantaloupe. The Maryland crop is increasing in volume.

The Bartlett pear crop is up about four per cent over last year.

Approximately 50 per cent more table grapes are marketed in August than in July. Varieties you will find are Thompson seedless, Ribiers and Red Malagas.

August and September are peak months for honeydew and crenshaw melons.

Lemons and limes make refreshing additions to summer meals.

August is sandwich month. Lift the sandwiches you serve out of bread-meat-cheese status and give them meal appeal. Open - face broiled sandwiches make a real tasty meal.

Make a selection from the many different kinds of bread available. The rolls, biscuits and quick breads you serve make excellent sandwiches that are different.

Spice Tastes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mustard preferences vary geographically in the United States, says a major producer of prepared mustard.

Texans like their barbecue hot but go for mild mustard, said French's. This preference runs about 9 to 1 in Texas and other parts of the South, the Southwest and the West Coast.

Dark strong mustard is most favored in major metropolitan areas of the East.

The popularity of horseradish mustard varies with ethnic groups. It is greatest in communities where there are many persons of German, Polish and other Central European backgrounds. Such areas include Buffalo, N.Y., Minneapolis and St. Louis.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 NT	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	6 ♣	Pass
Pass	Pass

The Americans scored a sizable gain in today's hand taken from their recently concluded match against the world title holders, Italy.

When the United States held the North-South cards, the bidding proceeded as set forth in the above diagram. North's one no trump opening bid was according to the book, and South made a game forcing jump to three clubs. North's rebid of four clubs was rather drastic in nature since it took the bidding beyond the three no trump level but, inasmuch as he had a near maximum no trump with an excellent club fit, he wished to lay the groundwork for bigger things in the event that partner was slam minded. South now knew that the combined assets were quantitatively equivalent to a small slam and, with a wealth of controls in his own hand, he decided not to dally further and proceeded directly to six clubs.

The play was purely routine. By ruffing a spade in dummy and dropping the jack of diamonds, declarer fulfilled his contract with an overtrick for a score of plus 1,390.

This was the bidding sequence at the other table with Italy seated North and South.

North	East	South	West
1 NT	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
4 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

A word of explanation is required to explain the Italian methods. The opening bid of one no trump designates a balanced hand containing 17-20 high card points. South's four club response is an artificial call showing precisely 14 points. North's four no trump rebid is a sign-off announcing a minimum no trump. It seems to us that the failure to reach a slam must be ascribed to the responder. His initial call was not well calculated. Since partner is marked with a minimum of 17 high card points and South has 16 points plus two good suits, prospects for slam are very bright, and he should not be content with merely making a single try. North took all the tricks at his four no trump contract, but the Americans picked up the difference of a vulnerable slam bonus on the deal.

Honey-Wine Dressing

(Makes about 1½ cups)

¾ cup salad oil
¼ cup wine vinegar
¼ cup Sherry
⅓ cup honey
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon celery seed
1 clove garlic

Combine all ingredients in a jar or bowl. Shake or beat until well blended. Store, covered, in the refrigerator until needed, then shake or beat again before using. Garlic may be removed once its flavor has permeated the dressing.

Sweet Corn Will Please

Try SIMPLE-DO CORN—Husk each ear of corn and remove the silk. Brush with melted butter or margarine and tightly wrap in heavy-weight aluminum foil. Grill over hot coals, turning occasionally, for 15 to 20 minutes or until tender.

STEAMIN' GOOD CORN—Peel the husks as you'd peel a banana, without detaching the husks from the cob, and remove the silk. Quickly dip the ears in water. Roll the husks back over the kernels, securing the ends tightly with a piece of the husks or string. Submerge the ears in water and soak about 30 minutes. Grill over hot coals, turning occasionally for 15 to 20 minutes until tender.

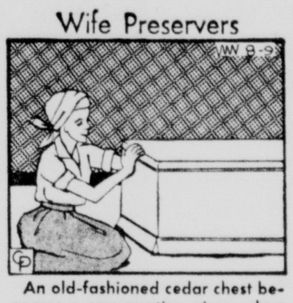
SURPRISE CORN — Peel the husks as you'd peel a banana, without detaching the husk from the cob, and remove the silk. Soak the ears in water for 30 minutes, then drain. Brush with melted butter or margarine, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and wrap with bacon strips. Roll the husks back over the kernels, smoothing down the ends, and drap each ear in heavy-weight aluminum foil. Cook on the hot coals, turning once, for 10 to 15 minutes until tender.

For added variety, spice the melted butter or margarine with cayenne, cinnamon, chili powder, paprika, onion salt or anchovy paste. Or add to it grated onion, parsley flakes, salt and cheese cracker brumbs. Peanut butter spread on corn-on-the-cob is a youngsters' favorite.

Filling Snack

Jumbos make a filling snack for hungry teen-agers. Halve 1 loaf of crusty French bread crosswise, then lengthwise. Halve each quarter. Spread cut sides with contents of 2 (4½ ounce) cans of deviled ham. Place on cookie sheet. Sprinkle ham with ½-cup of grated parmesan cheese. Bake in pre-heated 450-degree oven or on open fire until golden brown.

Wife Preservers



An old-fashioned cedar chest becomes a conversation piece when painted and decaled, or when slip-covered and top-padded and cushioned as a miniature sofa bed.

Marble can be waxed to protect it against scratches and stains. Light colored marbles are best treated with a white water wax emulsion; darker ones, with a light paste wax, or beeswax in turpentine.

Summer Luncheon Salad: Blend chilled canned apple sauce and cottage cheese half and half. Add salt and minced onion to taste. Mound on lettuce, dust with paprika and serve with French dressing. Nourishing and good.

Calypso Shake

Calypso shake will make a hit with children and grownups. Stir 1 2-3rds cups of instant nonfat dry milk into 1 quart of cold water. Add ¼ cup of honey and 3 fully ripe bananas, mashed. Beat or shake well. Serve immediately. Serves 6.

County Public School Enrollment Expected To Reach Over 16,000 For 1962-63 Term

The 24 school systems in Maryland will experience an increase in enrollment this September, although the totals are not to be too much over last year's in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County schools, said the increase will amount to 200 over last year's 16,000.

In Garrett County, Willard Hawkins, superintendent, said more students are expected in the Oakland and Bloomington schools while enrollment at Kitzmiller will be somewhat lower than in 1961-62. The rest of the county will remain steady, he added Over 4,800 students will be enrolled.

The State Department of Education said a record total of 638,775 pupils from grades one through 12 will enroll in September.

This will be 29,475 more than entered schools last year

The large growth in enrollments is expected to continue for the next few years as the babies born after World War II progress through high school.

Dr. David W. Zimmerman, deputy state school superintendent, said there would be a leveling off in the annual increase after the "war babies" graduate.

The greatest growth, however, in the state will be registered in the suburbs of Baltimore and Washington..

The State Department's figures indicate that Prince Georges County will experience the greatest percentage increase of the 24 subdivisions. The county will enroll 81,000 pupils next month, 6,427, or about 9 per cent more than last year.

Montgomery County is a close second in percentage increase. Its enrollment will rise about 7 per cent, from 77,563 to 83,250.

The enrollment will increase about 6 per cent in both Baltimore and Anne Arundel Counties. In Anne Arundel County, it will rise from 44,485 to 47,200 and in Baltimore county from 91,045 to 96,200.

About 163,400 pupils will attend Baltimore city's schoosl from first grade through high school, 3,333 more than last year, the Department of Education reported.

Four Teachers Appointed In Garrett County

OAKLAND —Four new teachers have been appointed by the Garrett County Board of Education.

The new instructors, who will fill all vacancies in the county school system, are:

Mrs. Nancy Turney — A. B. in music, Western Maryland College, to teach senior high school music at Southern High School.

Berlin Wilhelm — M. A. degree, West Virginia University, to teach junior high school science at Southern.

Mrs. Corile Wilhelm — A. B. degree, Asbury College, to teach commercial at Southern.

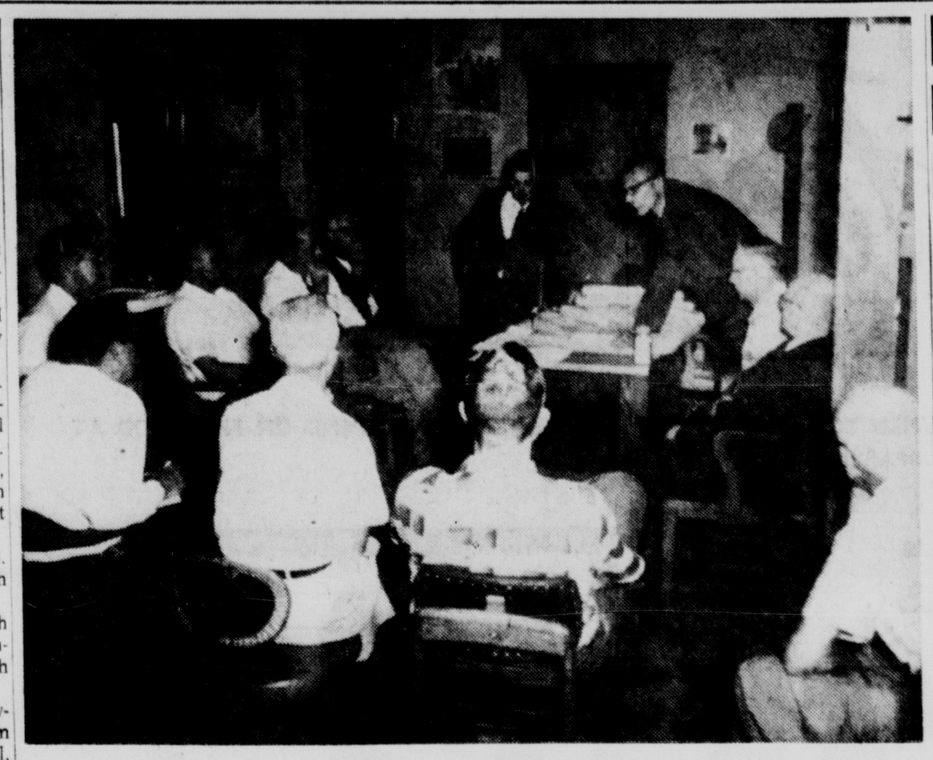
Joseph T. Domen — to teach driver education at both Northern and Southern and to coach football at Southern.

The board discussed the growing need for additional classroom space at Southern High School, which anticipates a record enrollment of 1,200, according to the principal, Kenneth Johns.

The board is giving preliminary consideration to the addition of a science unit of five science classrooms and an additional unit for an auto mechanics shop.

The total cost is estimated at $200,000. Money can be made available from the State School Construction Fund if approved by the County Commissioners, and must be repaid over a 15-year period.

The board accepted the low bid of the L & Y Plumbing Company of $8,315 for the installation of a new furnace at Grantsville School.



Plan Future Of Keyser

Patterson Wins Riding Tournament

MOOREFIELD — Ronnie Patterson, Pattersons Creek, riding as the Knight of Pattersons Creek, won first place in the riding tournament Saturday evening conducted by the Hardy County Riding Association at the annual Poultry Festival and celebration in Moorefield.

Patterson made a perfect ride with the nine-foot lance collecting three inch and a half rings on each of the three passes through the posts with a score of nine. He crowned his wife as Queen of Love and Beauty for the tournament.

Second place went to Emory Crites, Knight of Kessel, with a score of 2, 3, 3 on the inch and a half rings and a two and a one on the inch rings. He crowned his wife as first maid.

Ralph Pratt crowned his wife second maid after riding as the Knight of Clay Hill with a score of 3, 2, 3 on the inch and a half rings, and a two, zero on the one inch rings.

Jack Smith, riding as the Knight of Reeses Mill, crowned his wife as third maid with a score of 3, 3, 2 on the inch and a half rings and a 1, 0, 2 on the one inch rings.

The fourth maid, Miss Barbara Bean, was crowned by Johnny Riggleman riding as the Knight of Spring Avenue who scored a 3, 2, 3 on the inch and a half rings and a 1, 0, 1 on the inch rings.

Other scorers were Freddie Fisher, Knight of the South Branch; George Fisher, Knight of Just For Fun; Tony Wratchford, Knight of Fort Run; Charles Wolfe, Knight of Luck; William Fisher, Knight Would If I Could; Johnny Bowman, Knight of South End; George W. Fisher, Knight of Silver Bend, and Albert Clites, Knight of Walnut Bottom.

Maxwell Whipp, Burlington, was marshal of the tournament. Senator Ralph J. Bean delivered the charge to the knights, patterned after the medieval charges in the age of chivalry. John Hamilton had charge of the coronation ceremonies and presented crowns for the queen and the maids and trophies to the riders.

Only six rides were required to select the five winners. The riding tournament was a favorite and colorful sport for nearly a century in the South Branch Valley and ceased during World War II and Korean conflict. The sport was revived during the past seven years. The oldest tournament in the nation is at Natural Chimneys, Va. where tournaments have been held for 140 years.

Christmas Decorations Are Planned In Frostburg

FROSTBURG — Visitors to Frostburg were surprised Tuesday evening when they saw Santa Claus and his reindeers in the business section. The appearance of Santa was a promotion of the Frostburg Business Association to focus attention of the residents on future Christmas street decorations.

During the past 25 years, long stringers of lights and laurel and pine roping have been strung between lighting poles from Bowery Street to Water Street on Main.

Last spring, the Potomac Edison Company installed a mercury vapor lighting system. As a result, poles have been reduced and the present new poles staggered from one side of the street to the other so that the old stringers will no longer be able to be used for decorations.

A special hanger and a plastic decoration will have to be used on each pole. The utility had a receptacle installed at the top of each pole so decorations could be lighted from within.

According to John Cook, chairman, and his street lights committee, $2,000 will be needed this Christmas if the area is to be decorated.

Feeling it is a community as well as a business problem, they have placed containers in stores in which townspeople may make a donation.

Frosty Belle chapters have volunteered their services in helping to raise funds by conducting bake sales and sales of handmade articles.

The business group has expressed willingness to have any group aid in this venture especially, a spokesman said, since merchants are expected to cooperate with all civic affairs sponsored by other groups.

Tuesday evening, Santa William Preston entertained over 300 children, presenting each one with a candy sucker. His sled and reindeer were mounted upon a large flat bed truck parked at the intersection of Broadway and Main Street. Following Santa's appearance, the Arion Band played a concert. Several hundred persons witnessed both events.

Local stores also expressed their satisfaction with the large number of visitors to their stores throughout the day to take advantage of special bargains featured during the day and evening.

Tri-Towns Lions Plan Picnic Today

WESTERNPORT — Tri-Towns Lions Club will hold their annual picnic for members and their families today at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Ormal Hoover on the Knights of Pythias camp ground, Burlington.

Each lady will bring a covered dish and the club will provide the soft drinks and the meat. Each family is requested to bring their own silverware.

Pioneer Class Plans Picnic Supper

FROSTBURG — The Pioneer Class of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church will meet on Friday at 6 p. m. at the Frostburg Swimming Pool area for a picnic supper. Each member is asked to bring a covered dish and place setting.

The business session will follow with Mrs. Eleanor Richards in charge.

Report On Fire Needs Asked By Piedmont

PIEDMONT — Raymond Lee, chief of Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1, appeared before the Mayor and Council Tuesday evening, to discuss the adequacy of fire protection equipment.

He said the Potomac Firemen's Association informed the fire company that in the future all equipment over 20 years old would be ruled inadequate and removed from the records.

Mayor Donald M. Mellor instructed Lee to make an itemized list of the immediate needs of the fire company, along with the approximate cost, to present at the next meeting of the council.

Mayor Mellor announced that the town of Westernport will have access to the water from Piedmont over the weekend, while their water will be shut off to install the new booster pump.

The Mayor also said the old city building, housing maintenance equipment, had been hosed down and given a new look; the fence at the filter plant has been painted and the fence around the swimming pool is now being painted. New park benches have been placed on the downtown streets.

Four Teachers Appointed In Garrett County

OAKLAND —Four new teachers have been appointed by the Garrett County Board of Education.

The new instructors, who will fill all vacancies in the county school system, are:

Mrs. Nancy Turney — A. B. in music, Western Maryland College, to teach senior high school music at Southern High School.

Berlin Wilhelm — M. A. degree, West Virginia University, to teach junior high school science at Southern.

Mrs. Corile Wilhelm — A. B. degree, Asbury College, to teach commercial at Southern.

Joseph T. Domen — to teach driver education at both Northern and Southern and to coach football at Southern.

The board discussed the growing need for additional classroom space at Southern High School, which anticipates a record enrollment of 1,200, according to the principal, Kenneth Johns.

The board is giving preliminary consideration to the addition of a science unit of five science classrooms and an additional unit for an auto mechanics shop.

The total cost is estimated at $200,000. Money can be made available from the State School Construction Fund if approved by the County Commissioners, and must be repaid over a 15-year period.

The board accepted the low bid of the L & Y Plumbing Company of $8,315 for the installation of a new furnace at Grantsville School.

Patterson Wins Riding Tournament

MOOREFIELD — Ronnie Patterson, Pattersons Creek, riding as the Knight of Pattersons Creek, won first place in the riding tournament Saturday evening conducted by the Hardy County Riding Association at the annual Poultry Festival and celebration in Moorefield.

Patterson made a perfect ride with the nine-foot lance collecting three inch and a half rings on each of the three passes through the posts with a score of nine. He crowned his wife as Queen of Love and Beauty for the tournament.

Second place went to Emory Crites, Knight of Kessel, with a score of 2, 3, 3 on the inch and a half rings and a two and a one on the inch rings. He crowned his wife as first maid.

Ralph Pratt crowned his wife second maid after riding as the Knight of Clay Hill with a score of 3, 2, 3 on the inch and a half rings, and a two, zero on the one inch rings.

Jack Smith, riding as the Knight of Reeses Mill, crowned his wife as third maid with a score of 3, 3, 2 on the inch and a half rings and a 1, 0, 2 on the one inch rings.

The fourth maid, Miss Barbara Bean, was crowned by Johnny Riggleman riding as the Knight of Spring Avenue who scored a 3, 2, 3 on the inch and a half rings and a 1, 0, 1 on the inch rings.

Other scorers were Freddie Fisher, Knight of the South Branch; George Fisher, Knight of Just For Fun; Tony Wratchford, Knight of Fort Run; Charles Wolfe, Knight of Luck; William Fisher, Knight Would If I Could; Johnny Bowman, Knight of South End; George W. Fisher, Knight of Silver Bend, and Albert Clites, Knight of Walnut Bottom.

Maxwell Whipp, Burlington, was marshal of the tournament. Senator Ralph J. Bean delivered the charge to the knights, patterned after the medieval charges in the age of chivalry. John Hamilton had charge of the coronation ceremonies and presented crowns for the queen and the maids and trophies to the riders.

Only six rides were required to select the five winners. The riding tournament was a favorite and colorful sport for nearly a century in the South Branch Valley and ceased during World War II and Korean conflict. The sport was revived during the past seven years. The oldest tournament in the nation is at Natural Chimneys, Va. where tournaments have been held for 140 years.

Christmas Decorations Are Planned In Frostburg

FROSTBURG — Visitors to Frostburg were surprised Tuesday evening when they saw Santa Claus and his reindeers in the business section. The appearance of Santa was a promotion of the Frostburg Business Association to focus attention of the residents on future Christmas street decorations.

During the past 25 years, long stringers of lights and laurel and pine roping have been strung between lighting poles from Bowery Street to Water Street on Main.

Last spring, the Potomac Edison Company installed a mercury vapor lighting system. As a result, poles have been reduced and the present new poles staggered from one side of the street to the other so that the old stringers will no longer be able to be used for decorations.

A special hanger and a plastic decoration will have to be used on each pole. The utility had a receptacle installed at the top of each pole so decorations could be lighted from within.

According to John Cook, chairman, and his street lights committee, $2,000 will be needed this Christmas if the area is to be decorated.

Feeling it is a community as well as a business problem, they have placed containers in stores in which townspeople may make a donation.

Frosty Belle chapters have volunteered their services in helping to raise funds by conducting bake sales and sales of handmade articles.

The business group has expressed willingness to have any group aid in this venture especially, a spokesman said, since merchants are expected to cooperate with all civic affairs sponsored by other groups.

Tuesday evening, Santa William Preston entertained over 300 children, presenting each one with a candy sucker. His sled and reindeer were mounted upon a large flat bed truck parked at the intersection of Broadway and Main Street. Following Santa's appearance, the Arion Band played a concert. Several hundred persons witnessed both events.

Local stores also expressed their satisfaction with the large number of visitors to their stores throughout the day to take advantage of special bargains featured during the day and evening.

Pioneer Class Plans Picnic Supper

FROSTBURG — The Pioneer Class of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church will meet on Friday at 6 p. m. at the Frostburg Swimming Pool area for a picnic supper. Each member is asked to bring a covered dish and place setting.

The business session will follow with Mrs. Eleanor Richards in charge.

Report On Fire Needs Asked By Piedmont

PIEDMONT — Raymond Lee, chief of Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1, appeared before the Mayor and Council Tuesday evening, to discuss the adequacy of fire protection equipment.

He said the Potomac Firemen's Association informed the fire company that in the future all equipment over 20 years old would be ruled inadequate and removed from the records.

Mayor Donald M. Mellor instructed Lee to make an itemized list of the immediate needs of the fire company, along with the approximate cost, to present at the next meeting of the council.

Mayor Mellor announced that the town of Westernport will have access to the water from Piedmont over the weekend, while their water will be shut off to install the new booster pump.

The Mayor also said the old city building, housing maintenance equipment, had been hosed down and given a new look; the fence at the filter plant has been painted and the fence around the swimming pool is now being painted. New park benches have been placed on the downtown streets.

Billy Hoeft Excels In Relief As Baltimore Divides With Yanks

Southpaw Saves Fisher's Victory In Nightcap, 4-3

Retires 12 Batters In Row; New York Cops First, 3 To 2

NEW YORK (UPI) —Southpaw Billy Hoeft's no-hit relief pitching saved a 4-3 victory for the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday in the nightcap of a doubleheader after the New York Yankees won the opener, 3-2, on Bill Skowron's ninth-inning single.

Pudgy Jack Fisher was credited with his fifth victory in the nightcap but it was Hoeft who bailed him out during a three-run Yankee rally in the sixth and went on to retire the last 12 batters in order.

Clete Boyer, ordinarily one of the surest - fingered third basemen in baseball, committed three errors during the day and his last one helped the Orioles fashion their decisive four-run rally in the fifth inning of the nightcap.

Misses Force Out

With two men on base in that frame, Boyer missed a force-out throw from losing pitcher Jim Bouton, allowing one run to score, and Jerry Adair promptly singled home another run. Another error by Skowron allowed the third run to cross and Brooks Robinson singled home what proved to be the winning marker.

Fisher, who pitched one hit ball for the first five innings, yielded Boyer's 14th homer of the season in the sixth, after which pinch-hitter Tony Kubek singled and Phil Linz doubled. Russ Snyder's two-base error netted the Yankees' second run.

Hoeft took over at this point and Linz came across with the final run of the inning on Yogi Berra's infield out.

Skowron Gets Single

Bridges relieved starter Bill Stafford with two on in the top of the ninth and induced pinch - hitter Dick Williams to bounce into an inning-ending double play on his first pitch.

Skowron then singled home the winning run off Milt Pappas (10-7) with two out in the ninth, breaking a 2-2 tie created by Whitey Herzog's pinch homer for Baltimore in the eighth.

The Yankees went over the 1,000,000-mark in attendance for the 17th consecutive year with Wednesday's crowd of 29,137. This brought their season total to 1,015,346.

Vets Wallop Caseys, 14-1

Need Victory Today To Bag 5th Pennant

Barney Spearman sparked a 16-hit assault with a pair of solo homers as Manager Cecil Grimes' Veterans of Foreign Wars routed the Caseys yesterday at Celanese Field by the score of 14-1 and took a one-game lead over the Loyal Order of Moose in the close Rocking Chair Softball League pennant race which ends today.

The Vets (24-3) have an opportunity to win the league flag for the fifth straight season when they windup their 28-game schedule with third place Ritter's A. C. today at Campobello. The race will end in a tie if the Vets lose today and the Moose wins its final game. The Moose team trails with a 23-4 record.

Ronnie Cage rapped a double and single and Manager Grimes garnered a pair of safeties for the Vets in yesterday's contest.

Charley Day went the distance for the Vets who swept the four-game season series with the Caseys. Scores of the other games were 5-2, 1-0 and 7-0. Day yielded only three hits, one a double by Mickey Clark, and the win gave him a 5-0 record for the campaign. Russ Miller, the loser, is 3-5. Score:

N. Y. Mets Set Record For Earliest Pennant Losing

Eliminated By 82nd Setback On Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The record books can add a new line next winter:

Earliest date for pennant losing-New York Mets, Aug. 7, 1962.

When the Mets succumbed Tuesday night in Los Angeles 7-5, they reached the point of no return. It was their 82nd defeat. Even if they win all the rest of their games—a fantasy that staggers the imagination—they have to finish below the .500 mark in a 162-game season.

As it is impossible that all the clubs finish below .500, the 82nd defeat meant mathematical elimination although they trailed the Dodgers by 46 games with 51 to play.

"What's Casey Stengel trying to do, beat my losing record?" said Fred Haney, general manager of the Angels, in a kidding vein Tuesday night at Los Angeles. He referred to 1952 when his Pittsburgh Pirates lost 112.

The Mets have a shot at the modern record for most lost—115 by Boston in 1935, a National League mark, and 117 by Philadelphia in 1916 in the American League. The all-time mark is 134 defeats by Cleveland in 1899. Of course, the Mets have more chances. They play a 162-game season.

Don Davis Dies Of Injuries In Ohio Auto Race

Death Attributed To Brain Damage

DAYTON (UPI)—Race driver Don Davis of Phoenix, Ariz., died in Good Samaritan Hospital here Wednesday of injuries suffered in a Sunday accident at the New Bremen (Ohio) Speedway.

Death was attributed to brain damage brought on by a high fever Monday which temporarily halted his respiration. Davis, 28, had been unconscious since he was transferred here from a St. Marys (Ohio) hospital several hours after the crash.

Doctors said Davis seemed to be rallying Monday until the fever set in, causing a general deterioration of his condition. Surgery was deemed useless by surgeons, due to the type of basal skull fracture.

He was survived by his wife, Gloria, who was at the hospital when he died, and two young sons, William, 3, and Don, 1, who were in Phoenix.

Davis, who finished fourth in the Indianapolis 500 race this spring, skidded 128 feet in the last few yards of the race Sunday, after hitting a guardrail. Witnesses said the racer came down on top of him on the second bounce, bending the roll bar.

Davis, who died at 1:32 p.m. EST became the first spring car driver to perish at the speedway since June 29, 1958, when Jim Davis of Indianapolis was killed in a collision with the late Ed Elisian.

The husky, 190-pounder was regarded as a fine prospect among racing car drivers. He was California Racing Association champion in 1960, and entered the Indianapolis 500 the following year when a leaking oil tank caused a spinout after 49 laps.

Greek Money Is Out Of Travers

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Buddy Raines, trainer of the Preakness winner Greek Money, said Wednesday the Brandywine Farm colt would not start in the $75,000 Travers Aug. 18 at Saratoga.

"The colt's fine," reported Raines. "But I'm afraid he isn't far enough advanced in his training to go the mile and a quarter distance of the Travers. I've talked it over with Mr. Donald Ross, his owner, and we have decided to wait for the Jerome."

The $50,000 Jerome Handicap will be run Sept. 1 at Aqueduct.

Don Peters Is Named Romney Cage Mentor

Bob Sirk To Join Grid Staff; Game Sought October 26

Don Peters will take over the reins as head basketball coach at Romney High School for the 1962-63 season, it was announced yesterday by Roger Parker, athletic director at the Hampshire County school.

Peters succeeds Parker as basketball mentor and will retain his position as baseball coach and remain as assistant grid mentor.

Parker has coached Pioneer basketball teams for the past two seasons but is relinquishing the post of cage mentor in favor of Peters. Parker will continue as athletic director, head football coach and track and field coach. Parker's 1961 Pioneers football team was unbeaten and untied and posted a 9-0 record.

Peters has handled the baseball reins and has served as grid assistant for the last two years.

Bob Sirk, former Romney High School athlete, who taught at Fort Ashby last year, is joining the Pioneers this months as assistant grid coach.

Parker reports that Keyser High School is back on Romney's football schedule this fall after an absence of two years.

Berkeley Springs is missing but Romney's eight other 1961 opponents, namely, Charles Town, Franklin, Moorefield, Green Bank, Beall, Ridgeley, Petersburg and Farmington, are back on the card.

Romney would like to play a 10-game schedule and if any schools in the area are interested the Pioneers have an open date—Friday, October 26 — for a game home or away.

Billy Hoeft Excels In Relief As Baltimore Divides With Yanks

Retires 12 Batters In Row; New York Cops First, 3 To 2

NEW YORK (UPI) —Southpaw Billy Hoeft's no-hit relief pitching saved a 4-3 victory for the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday in the nightcap of a doubleheader after the New York Yankees won the opener, 3-2, on Bill Skowron's ninth-inning single.

Pudgy Jack Fisher was credited with his fifth victory in the nightcap but it was Hoeft who bailed him out during a three-run Yankee rally in the sixth and went on to retire the last 12 batters in order.

Clete Boyer, ordinarily one of the surest - fingered third basemen in baseball, committed three errors during the day and his last one helped the Orioles fashion their decisive four-run rally in the fifth inning of the nightcap.

Misses Force Out

With two men on base in that frame, Boyer missed a force-out throw from losing pitcher Jim Bouton, allowing one run to score, and Jerry Adair promptly singled home another run. Another error by Skowron allowed the third run to cross and Brooks Robinson singled home what proved to be the winning marker.

Fisher, who pitched one hit ball for the first five innings, yielded Boyer's 14th homer of the season in the sixth, after which pinch-hitter Tony Kubek singled and Phil Linz doubled. Russ Snyder's two-base error netted the Yankees' second run.

Hoeft took over at this point and Linz came across with the final run of the inning on Yogi Berra's infield out.

Skowron Gets Single

Bridges relieved starter Bill Stafford with two on in the top of the ninth and induced pinch - hitter Dick Williams to bounce into an inning-ending double play on his first pitch.

Skowron then singled home the winning run off Milt Pappas (10-7) with two out in the ninth, breaking a 2-2 tie created by Whitey Herzog's pinch homer for Baltimore in the eighth.

The Yankees went over the 1,000,000-mark in attendance for the 17th consecutive year with Wednesday's crowd of 29,137. This brought their season total to 1,015,346.

Greek Money Is Out Of Travers

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Buddy Raines, trainer of the Preakness winner Greek Money, said Wednesday the Brandywine Farm colt would not start in the $75,000 Travers Aug. 18 at Saratoga.

"The colt's fine," reported Raines. "But I'm afraid he isn't far enough advanced in his training to go the mile and a quarter distance of the Travers. I've talked it over with Mr. Donald Ross, his owner, and we have decided to wait for the Jerome."

The $50,000 Jerome Handicap will be run Sept. 1 at Aqueduct.

Don Peters Is Named Romney Cage Mentor

Bob Sirk To Join Grid Staff; Game Sought October 26

Don Peters will take over the reins as head basketball coach at Romney High School for the 1962-63 season, it was announced yesterday by Roger Parker, athletic director at the Hampshire County school.

Peters succeeds Parker as basketball mentor and will retain his position as baseball coach and remain as assistant grid mentor.

Parker has coached Pioneer basketball teams for the past two seasons but is relinquishing the post of cage mentor in favor of Peters. Parker will continue as athletic director, head football coach and track and field coach. Parker's 1961 Pioneers football team was unbeaten and untied and posted a 9-0 record.

Peters has handled the baseball reins and has served as grid assistant for the last two years.

Bob Sirk, former Romney High School athlete, who taught at Fort Ashby last year, is joining the Pioneers this months as assistant grid coach.

Parker reports that Keyser High School is back on Romney's football schedule this fall after an absence of two years.

Berkeley Springs is missing but Romney's eight other 1961 opponents, namely, Charles Town, Franklin, Moorefield, Green Bank, Beall, Ridgeley, Petersburg and Farmington, are back on the card.

Romney would like to play a 10-game schedule and if any schools in the area are interested the Pioneers have an open date—Friday, October 26 — for a game home or away.

Gene Conley Outduels Dick Donovan As Red Sox Top Tribe, 6-0

Hurls Four-Hit Game; Faces 33 Indian Batters

Clinton's Triple Paces Boston Attack Against Tribe Ace

BOSTON (UPI)—Big Gene Conley, in his best pitching job since briefly quitting the Red Sox two weeks ago, hurled Boston to a four-hit, 6-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians Wednesday night.

The 6-foot, 9-inch Conley faced only 33 batters en route to his 10th victory of the season. He walked two, hit one with a pitch, and struck out six.

Boston scored more than sufficient to win in the first on two singles and Lu Clinton's two-run triple. The Red Sox drove out the veteran Dick Donovan after five innings during which they scored all six runs on eight hits, three by Gary Geiger who drove in three runs.

Conley gave up a one-out single to Cleveland's Doc Edwards in the first, a single to Bubba Phillips in the second, a double to Jim Mahoney in the eighth and another to Tito Francona in the ninth.

Angels Rally To Trim Chisox

Lee Thomas' Single Wins Opener, 5-1

CHICAGO (UPI) — Lee Thomas' bases-loaded single and a pair of Chicago White Sox errors enabled the Los Angeles Angels to score four runs in the eighth inning and win the first game of a twi-night doubleheader, 5-1.

Ted Bowsfield, who gave up six scattered hits in seven innings for the pitching victory, started the Angels' rally when he was safe on Juan Pizarro's bobble while covering first base.

Albie Pearson and Billy Moran both bunted and runners were safe all around when Chicago infielders elected to try for force-outs.

Cards Blank Pirates, 2-0

Bucs Lose 14th In Last 18 Tilts

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday night for the second night in a row, 2-0, to move into a virtual tie for fourth place with the Pirates in the National League.

Bob Gibson blanked the reeling Pirates on three hits to post his 14th win against eight losses. Wednesday night, Ernie Broglio tossed a 5-0, four-hit whitewash.

The Pirates, who have lost 14 of their last 18 games, now lead the Cardinals by only two percentage points.

Al McBean matched goose eggs with Gibson until the sixth inning when the Cards scored two unearned runs. Ken Boyer singled with two out and Charlie James followed with a line drive to center which skipped past Bill Virdon. The ball rolled to the wall and both Boyer and James scored on the error.

Tigers Defeat Senators, 6-5

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Home runs by Norm Cash and Vic Wertz drove in four runs and paced the Detroit Tigers to a 6-5 victory over the Washington Senators Wednesday night in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Detroit routed Washington mound ace Dave Stenhouse with four runs in the first inning. The big blow was Wertz' two-run homer. There were four walks in the inning and singles by Steve Boros and Cash.

Washington pecked away at Detroit starter Don Mossi with a run in each of the first two innings and chased him with another tally in the third. Ron Kline came on to close out a threat and was on base by a single in the fourth when Cash made it 6-3 with a blast into the mezzanine in right field.

VFW Defeats Bernstein's To Gain Playoffs

A tremendous three-run homer to left center by Bobby Henry in the bottom of the seventh inning gave the V.F.W. a 3-2 triumph over Bernstein's and clinched a playoff berth for the Vets in a Rec Baseball League encounter at Allegany field yesterday. The loss eliminated Bernstein's from the playoffs in the final game of the regular season for both teams.

Howard Reynolds gained the victory for the Vets, striking out seven and allowing only four hits as he outdueled loser Tommy Stitcher who gave up five bingles.

The Vets were trailing 2-0 in the last inning when a walk, fielder's choice and a double by Ellwood Stewart set the stage for Henry's game-winning blast. Henry also had a single for the winners while Stitcher collected a single and double and scored both runs for Bernstein's.

In a pair of league encounters called after five innings because of darkness, first-place Curl's lost its third game, 4-3, to Toy Shop at Fort Hill field and Gurley's runners-up walloped Forty & Eight, 11-1, at Stitcher Field.

Charleston Catcher Is Free On Bail

YORK Pa., (UPI) — Charleston Indians catcher Duke Sims was freed on $3,500 bail Wednesday after being charged with aggravated assault and assault and battery, violation of the state's disorderly conduct code and resisting arrest.

The charges stemmed from an altercation in a local nightspot. Sims of Pocatello, Idaho, allegedly poured a bottle of beer over a patron in the "615 Club" and was asked to leave. Deputy Sheriff Burnell Leipold, who is employed to maintain order at the club, got into the argument and a fight ensued.

The deputy sheriff was released from York hospital after treatment for head and face cuts and bruises. He also had several teeth knocked out.

Gene Conley Outduels Dick Donovan As Red Sox Top Tribe, 6-0

Clinton's Triple Paces Boston Attack Against Tribe Ace

BOSTON (UPI)—Big Gene Conley, in his best pitching job since briefly quitting the Red Sox two weeks ago, hurled Boston to a four-hit, 6-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians Wednesday night.

The 6-foot, 9-inch Conley faced only 33 batters en route to his 10th victory of the season. He walked two, hit one with a pitch, and struck out six.

Boston scored more than sufficient to win in the first on two singles and Lu Clinton's two-run triple. The Red Sox drove out the veteran Dick Donovan after five innings during which they scored all six runs on eight hits, three by Gary Geiger who drove in three runs.

Conley gave up a one-out single to Cleveland's Doc Edwards in the first, a single to Bubba Phillips in the second, a double to Jim Mahoney in the eighth and another to Tito Francona in the ninth.

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Archie Compston, bluff and outspoken golf pro at the swank Mid-Ocean club the past 14 years, died Wednesday in England, according to word received here. He was 69.

He was the golfing partner of the Duke of Windsor for many years and gave Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower several lessons when he was President and was attending the Big Three Conference here.

Richie Guerin set a new scoring record for the New York Knickerbockers when he tallied 2,303 points in the National Baseball Association last season. He played 78 games.

Walt Blum rode six winners in one day at Monmouth Park in Oceanport, N. J., in 1961.

Charleston Catcher Is Free On Bail

YORK Pa., (UPI) — Charleston Indians catcher Duke Sims was freed on $3,500 bail Wednesday after being charged with aggravated assault and assault and battery, violation of the state's disorderly conduct code and resisting arrest.

The charges stemmed from an altercation in a local nightspot. Sims of Pocatello, Idaho, allegedly poured a bottle of beer over a patron in the "615 Club" and was asked to leave. Deputy Sheriff Burnell Leipold, who is employed to maintain order at the club, got into the argument and a fight ensued.

The deputy sheriff was released from York hospital after treatment for head and face cuts and bruises. He also had several teeth knocked out.

Bucs Lose 14th In Last 18 Tilts

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday night for the second night in a row, 2-0, to move into a virtual tie for fourth place with the Pirates in the National League.

Bob Gibson blanked the reeling Pirates on three hits to post his 14th win against eight losses. Wednesday night, Ernie Broglio tossed a 5-0, four-hit whitewash.

The Pirates, who have lost 14 of their last 18 games, now lead the Cardinals by only two percentage points.

Al McBean matched goose eggs with Gibson until the sixth inning when the Cards scored two unearned runs. Ken Boyer singled with two out and Charlie James followed with a line drive to center which skipped past Bill Virdon. The ball rolled to the wall and both Boyer and James scored on the error.

Tigers Defeat Senators, 6-5

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Home runs by Norm Cash and Vic Wertz drove in four runs and paced the Detroit Tigers to a 6-5 victory over the Washington Senators Wednesday night in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Detroit routed Washington mound ace Dave Stenhouse with four runs in the first inning. The big blow was Wertz' two-run homer. There were four walks in the inning and singles by Steve Boros and Cash.

Washington pecked away at Detroit starter Don Mossi with a run in each of the first two innings and chased him with another tally in the third. Ron Kline came on to close out a threat and was on base by a single in the fourth when Cash made it 6-3 with a blast into the mezzanine in right field.

Angels Rally To Trim Chisox

Lee Thomas' Single Wins Opener, 5-1

CHICAGO (UPI) — Lee Thomas' bases-loaded single and a pair of Chicago White Sox errors enabled the Los Angeles Angels to score four runs in the eighth inning and win the first game of a twi-night doubleheader, 5-1.

Ted Bowsfield, who gave up six scattered hits in seven innings for the pitching victory, started the Angels' rally when he was safe on Juan Pizarro's bobble while covering first base.

Albie Pearson and Billy Moran both bunted and runners were safe all around when Chicago infielders elected to try for force-outs.

Lee Thomas lashed his bases-loaded single to bring home two runners. Moran scored when shortstop Luis Aparicio threw wildly to the plate. Thomas, who took second on the play, scored on a single by Felix Torres.

Star-Studded Field Of 99 Opens American Golf Classic Today

40 Leading Cash Winners Vie In Ohio

Winner Of Every Tourney This Year In $50,000 Event

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Defending champion Jay Hebert and 1962's three kings of golf-Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—headed a star-studded field of 99 players who tee off Thursday in the $50,000 American Golf Classic.

Because he plays the long Firestone Country Club course like he owns it, Hebert ruled a slight favorite to defend the title he won last year. Hebert has played two tournaments over the 7,165-yard course with its par of 35-35—70 and won them both.

His first victory here came in the 1960 PGA championship. He picked up $11,000 for winning that one and then last year won $9,000 when he captured the first classic with a sudden death play off victory over Player.

40 Top Golfers Vie

But with the field including all of the 40 leading money winners on the tour this year, Hebert was far from an overwhelming choice. Rated right up there with him were Palmer, the Masters and British Open champion who has not been playing too well for the past month: U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus and Player, the 1962 PGA king.

Then there were Sam Snead, golf's all-time money winning champion; Bob Goalby, winner of the Insurance City Open last Sunday in a sudden death battle with Art Wall; Wall, Mike Souchak, former PGA champions Dow Finsterwald, Wally Burkemo, Jerry Barber, Jackie Burke, Lionel Hebert, brother of Jay; Jim Ferrier, Doug Ford, Chick Harbert and Bob Rosburg and former U.S. Open titleholders Tommy Bolt, Julius Boros, Billy Casper, Jack Fleck, Gene Littler, Cary Middlecoff and Lew Worsham.

The winner of every tournament this year also was in the field—the strongest for any golf tournament this year.

Tommy Jacobs and Doug Sanders had the hottest warm-up rounds with Jay Hebert and Souchack, back at work after a two weeks rest, also doing well.

Seeks Third Win

"But I'm going to have to do better if I expect to win here again," said Jay. "Of course, I'll always be thinking that I won here twice and hope that lightning will strike again."

Souchak didn't figure that anyone could be favored in such a classy field.

"This is the strongest field of any tournament this year," he said. "There isn't a ringer in it. No one here got in on a pass. That means that instead of the 30 or 35 golfers you figure you normally would have to beat in any given tournament, you have 98 other guys here that you have to beat.

"It is one reason why the American Classic, in just two years, has become one of the country's major golf tournaments."

Houston Signs Cannon To $100,000-Plus Pact

Contract For 3 Years, Billy One Of Highest Paid In Pro Football

HOUSTON (AP) — Billy Cannon signed a new $100,000-plus contract with the Houston Oilers Wednesday and officials of the American Football League champions hinted the action was prompted by overtures from the rival National League.

The original $100,000-plus personal services contract signed by the 1959 Heisman Trophy winner from Louisiana State extends through the 1962 season. The new straight salary contract extends through the 1965 season.

Denies NFL Contact

Cannon denied having been contacted by any NFL club, but Oiler sources said there have been reports the NFL already has set up a system to determine which team would get the rights for Cannon's services if the AFL's rushing leader could be lured away from the Oilers.

The first three-year contract prompted a federal court fight between the Oilers and the Los Angeles Rams.

"I wanted to play in Houston when I came here and I see no reason to change," Cannon said Wednesday.

Cannon, a halfback, said the personal services contract he signed after the 1959 collegiate season with K. W. (Bud) Adams Jr., Oiler owner, guaranteed a salary even if the new league folded. The new contract is for football only.

"If the league should fold up during the new contract I'd be without a job," Cannon said.

Cannon was voted the most outstanding player of both the AFL championship games Houston won from the San Diego Chargers.

In addition to gaining 948 yards in 200 rushing plays last season, Cannon was the AFL's top-ranked pass receiver among backs, and was one of the league's outstanding blockers.

One Of Highest Paid

Jimmy Brown of the NFL Cleveland Browns reportedly receives between $32,000 and $33,000 a year.

Adams and Cannon would say nothing more than the new contract for three years exceeds $100,000.

Hitting Away Cops Saratoga Feature Race

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 8 — Ogden Phipps' Hitting Away made it two for two over the grass course at the meeting as he rushed to a popular victory here before 14,011 in the 4th running of the $25,000 added Bernard Baruch, named for the elder statesman and advisor to presidents.

Saddled by 88-year-old Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, the son of Ambiorix carried 122 pounds, including Hedley Woodhouse, and scored by a length and a quarter over Wise Ship, who packed 126 pounds. Niksar was a fighting third, a neck farther away, and a similar margin ahead of Wheatley Stable's Royal Record, who was coupled with Hitting Away. Seven competed in this mile and a sixteenth test on turf. It was termed "soft."

Hitting Away, who made his first start on grass, winning it, on July 31, returned $3.40, $2.20, and $2.10. He turned the distance in 1:42 1/5, a second slower than the track record, and earned $18,752.50 from the gross prize of $28,850. It was Hitting Away's 15th start of the year, his fourth success. And he now looms as one of the nation's standout turf performers.

Bosely was informed by Gordon Eismon, executive secretary of the West Virginia Athletic Activities Commission, that housing facilities would not be available Friday night.

Midland, Franklin, Keyser, Westernport Will Tangle Today

Midland's Old Exports will be gunning for their fourth straight win when they meet Franklin in a Twilight Baseball League game today at Westernport at 5:30 p. m.

The Old Exports are 18-6 and lead runner-up Keyser (16-7) by 1½ games. Barton is in third place also 1½ games back with a 17-8 record.

Midland will be striving for a four-game sweep of the series with Franklin, having won by scores of 23-3, 9-6 and 17-7.

Keyser plays fourth place Westernport (13-7) at Keyser while Barton plays host to fifth place Zihlman (13-10).

The Cumberland Comets (11-10) entertain Gilmore at Fort Hill Field.

Keyser and Westernport have split two games and played an 8-8 tie. Zihlman has beaten Barton twice, 4-3 and 9-4 while losing 10-6 and Cumberland has copped three in a row from Gilmore, 11-4, 7-4 and 11-5.

Dan Tigers Down Braves, 7-3, Gain Finals In Playoffs

Manager Val DeArcangelis' Tigers eliminated the Braves, 7-3, in the one-game semi-final playoffs in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday at Dapper Dan Field on Leiper Street.

The contest was completed yesterday from the fourth inning after being interrupted by rain on Monday. David Burke handled the reins of the Braves following the resignation of Manager Bert Lawler in protest of the ruling of the league baseball committee that the game be continued from the point of interruption instead of being replayed entirely as in accordance with the league's rules that were in effect during the season.

The Tigers, leading 3-0 when the game was restarted yesterday, added four runs in the last two innings to offset a three-run rally by the Braves in the sixth.

Glenn Cross went the distance on a three-hitter for the Tigers to best loser Pat McLean.

Tommy Green banged out three hits for the Tigers while Cross had a double and a single and Mervin Uhl belted a triple and a home run. Joe Burkey garnered two singles for the losers.

Ricky Scaletta of the Tigers and Kevin Friend of the Braves excelled at shortstop in the "sudden death" playoff.

The triumph enables the Tigers to gain the best-of-three finals against the Indians who triumphed 1-0 over the Dodgers on Tuesday in the other semi-final contest. The winner of the Tigers-Indians playoff will meet the Dapper Division champion for the league title. The results:

Tigers	210 022—7 9 0
Braves	000 003—3 3 2

The Old Germans clinched the Rec Softball League pennant yesterday by turning back the runner-up Sports Shoppe, 6-1, behind the three-hit pitching of Ernie Condon at Post field.

The triumph was the 19th in 22 decisions for Manager Jimmy Dunn's tossers and gave them a three-game bulge over the Sports Shoppe with two games left to play in the regular season.

Condon whiffed six and walked but two batters in notching his seventh mound triumph for the Old Germans. Rich Smith, the losing pitcher, touched Condon for a double which resulted in Sports Shoppe's only run in the second.

Fay Often, George Bishields, Condon and Al Largent each had a double while Bishields belted a homer and Largent a triple to pace the Old Germans attack.

The Old Exports tied Snyder's Grocery for third place with a 14-3 triumph over last-place Potomac Edison with Neil Toey tossing an eight-hitter for the win at East Side field.

Jim Seeders smashed a grand-slam home run to cap a nine-run explosion for Old Exports in the first inning. Reed Clingerman hit a double and two singles and Dick Peck belted a homer and a two-bagger for the winners. Walker, Rice and Crone had a pair of hits apiece for Potomac Edison. The results:

Skins Pick Backfield

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Washington Redskins will start a backfield of Norm Snead, Billy Barnes, Dick James and Don Bosseler against the Los Angeles Rams here Saturday night.

"Bobby Mitchell will get plenty of action but he won't start in our backfield," said Coach Bill McPeak.

Mitchell was obtained from the Cleveland Browns during the winter trading.

Dapper Yankees Win Playoff As Phillies Forfeit

The Yankees were awarded a forfeit victory over the Phillies yesterday in the one-game semi-final playoff in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League at Constitution Park.

The contest was ordered played from the point of interruption after rains had stopped the game in the fourth inning on Monday with the Yankees leading 6-2.

Co-managers Howard "Farmer" Northcraft and Lloyd "Pete" Deremer of the Phillies resigned yesterday in protest to the league's baseball committee ruling on the replaying of the contest, claiming that the order to resume play in the fourth inning instead of starting over was in direct conflict to the rules which the league had played under during the season.

The Phillies players were on hand for yesterday's game, but were unable to take the field without a manager and were forced to forfeit the decision which eliminated them from the playoffs.

Rick Renotas was on the mound for the Yankees and had held the Phillies to two hits until the fourth when Randy Natale hit a two-run homer. Renotas and Mike Gray collected two hits apiece and Bill Pratt hit a two-run triple for the Yankees who garnered 10 hits before the rain stopped play on Monday.

Tommy McGeady started on the hill for the Phillies on Monday and was relieved by Gary Perkins in the first when the Yankees scored all their runs.

The Yankees victory puts them in the division's best-of-three final playoffs against the pennant-winning Cardinals who defeated the Giants Tuesday, 17-5.

Birds Enter Team In Winter League

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles announced Wednesday they will enter a team in the 1962 Florida Winter Instructional League, which will open about Oct. 10.

The team will be based in Clearwater, and will compete against eight other squads representing major league clubs.

Baltimore operated a team at Clearwater in the 1958-59 winter leagues, and at Scottsdale, Ariz., the past two years. Steve Barber, John Powell and Dave Nicholson, now on the major league roster, are the most notable Oriole graduates of the instructional league.

To be eligible for the loop, a player must not have had more than three years of professional experience, nor have played higher than Class B baseball.

Granny Hamner, 35, Fails In Comeback, Gives Up Baseball

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Granny Hamner, the former whiz kid who attempted a major league comeback as a pitcher with the Kansas City Athletics at the age of 35, voluntarily retired Wednesday from baseball.

Hamner, a righthanded knuckleball pitcher, was called up by Kansas City last month to bolster the Athletics' faltering pitching corps. He had been managing Kansas City's Class A farm club at Binghamton, N.Y., in the Eastern League.

Hamner appeared in four games as a relief pitcher with the Athletics. He lost his only decision and had a 9.00 earned run average.

Hamner notified Athletics General Manager Pat Friday of his retirement Wednesday after failing to accompany the team back to Kansas City Tuesday night from a road trip. Friday said Hamner gave no specific reasons for retiring.

Hamner was a star shortstop with the Philadelphia Phillies Whiz Kids, which won the National League pennant in 1950. He resides in Richmond, Va.

Star-Studded Field Of 99 Opens American Golf Classic Today

40 Leading Cash Winners Vie In Ohio

Winner Of Every Tourney This Year In $50,000 Event

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Defending champion Jay Hebert and 1962's three kings of golf-Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—headed a star-studded field of 99 players who tee off Thursday in the $50,000 American Golf Classic.

Because he plays the long Firestone Country Club course like he owns it, Hebert ruled a slight favorite to defend the title he won last year. Hebert has played two tournaments over the 7,165-yard course with its par of 35-35—70 and won them both.

His first victory here came in the 1960 PGA championship. He picked up $11,000 for winning that one and then last year won $9,000 when he captured the first classic with a sudden death play off victory over Player.

40 Top Golfers Vie

But with the field including all of the 40 leading money winners on the tour this year, Hebert was far from an overwhelming choice. Rated right up there with him were Palmer, the Masters and British Open champion who has not been playing too well for the past month: U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus and Player, the 1962 PGA king.

Then there were Sam Snead, golf's all-time money winning champion; Bob Goalby, winner of the Insurance City Open last Sunday in a sudden death battle with Art Wall; Wall, Mike Souchak, former PGA champions Dow Finsterwald, Wally Burkemo, Jerry Barber, Jackie Burke, Lionel Hebert, brother of Jay; Jim Ferrier, Doug Ford, Chick Harbert and Bob Rosburg and former U.S. Open titleholders Tommy Bolt, Julius Boros, Billy Casper, Jack Fleck, Gene Littler, Cary Middlecoff and Lew Worsham.

The winner of every tournament this year also was in the field—the strongest for any golf tournament this year.

Tommy Jacobs and Doug Sanders had the hottest warm-up rounds with Jay Hebert and Souchack, back at work after a two weeks rest, also doing well.

Seeks Third Win

"But I'm going to have to do better if I expect to win here again," said Jay. "Of course, I'll always be thinking that I won here twice and hope that lightning will strike again."

Souchak didn't figure that anyone could be favored in such a classy field.

"This is the strongest field of any tournament this year," he said. "There isn't a ringer in it. No one here got in on a pass. That means that instead of the 30 or 35 golfers you figure you normally would have to beat in any given tournament, you have 98 other guys here that you have to beat.

"It is one reason why the American Classic, in just two years, has become one of the country's major golf tournaments."

Midland, Franklin, Keyser, Westernport Will Tangle Today

Midland's Old Exports will be gunning for their fourth straight win when they meet Franklin in a Twilight Baseball League game today at Westernport at 5:30 p. m.

The Old Exports are 18-6 and lead runner-up Keyser (16-7) by 1½ games. Barton is in third place also 1½ games back with a 17-8 record.

Midland will be striving for a four-game sweep of the series with Franklin, having won by scores of 23-3, 9-6 and 17-7.

Keyser plays fourth place Westernport (13-7) at Keyser while Barton plays host to fifth place Zihlman (13-10).

The Cumberland Comets (11-10) entertain Gilmore at Fort Hill Field.

Keyser and Westernport have split two games and played an 8-8 tie. Zihlman has beaten Barton twice, 4-3 and 9-4 while losing 10-6 and Cumberland has copped three in a row from Gilmore, 11-4, 7-4 and 11-5.

Lonaconing is idle today.

The tall giraffe has only seven vertebrae in its neck. A small sparrow has fourteen. In fact, the neck of a bird has more freedom of motion than that of a snake.

Houston Signs Cannon To $100,000-Plus Pact

Contract For 3 Years, Billy One Of Highest Paid In Pro Football

HOUSTON (AP) — Billy Cannon signed a new $100,000-plus contract with the Houston Oilers Wednesday and officials of the American Football League champions hinted the action was prompted by overtures from the rival National League.

The original $100,000-plus personal services contract signed by the 1959 Heisman Trophy winner from Louisiana State extends through the 1962 season. The new straight salary contract extends through the 1965 season.

Denies NFL Contact

Cannon denied having been contacted by any NFL club, but Oiler sources said there have been reports the NFL already has set up a system to determine which team would get the rights for Cannon's services if the AFL's rushing leader could be lured away from the Oilers.

The first three-year contract prompted a federal court fight between the Oilers and the Los Angeles Rams.

"I wanted to play in Houston when I came here and I see no reason to change," Cannon said Wednesday.

Cannon, a halfback, said the personal services contract he signed after the 1959 collegiate season with K. W. (Bud) Adams Jr., Oiler owner, guaranteed a salary even if the new league folded. The new contract is for football only.

"If the league should fold up during the new contract I'd be without a job," Cannon said.

Cannon was voted the most outstanding player of both the AFL championship games Houston won from the San Diego Chargers.

In addition to gaining 948 yards in 200 rushing plays last season, Cannon was the AFL's top-ranked pass receiver among backs, and was one of the league's outstanding blockers.

One Of Highest Paid

The new contract makes Cannon one of the highest paid players in pro football.

Jimmy Brown of the NFL Cleveland Browns reportedly receives between $32,000 and $33,000 a year.

Adams and Cannon would say nothing more than the new contract for three years exceeds $100,000.

Hitting Away Cops Saratoga Feature Race

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 8 — Ogden Phipps' Hitting Away made it two for two over the grass course at the meeting as he rushed to a popular victory here before 14,011 in the 4th running of the $25,000 added Bernard Baruch, named for the elder statesman and advisor to presidents.

Saddled by 88-year-old Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, the son of Ambiorix carried 122 pounds, including Hedley Woodhouse, and scored by a length and a quarter over Wise Ship, who packed 126 pounds. Niksar was a fighting third, a neck farther away, and a similar margin ahead of Wheatley Stable's Royal Record, who was coupled with Hitting Away. Seven competed in this mile and a sixteenth test on turf. It was termed "soft."

Hitting Away, who made his first start on grass, winning it, on July 31, returned $3.40, $2.20, and $2.10. He turned the distance in 1:42 1/5, a second slower than the track record, and earned $18,752.50 from the gross prize of $28,850. It was Hitting Away's 15th start of the year, his fourth success. And he now looms as one of the nation's standout turf performers.

Rules Clinic Housing Not Available Aug. 17

Football officials of the tri-state area planning to attend the West Virginia rules clinic at Jackson's Mill, August 18 and 19, have been advised by Hugh Bosely, of Charleston, that it will be necessary for them to arrive on Saturday morning or arrange for housing somewhere else on Friday night.

Bosely was informed by Gordon Eismon, executive secretary of the West Virginia Athletic Activities Commission, that housing facilities would not be available Friday night.

The Old Germans clinched the Rec Softball League pennant yesterday by turning back the runner-up Sports Shoppe, 6-1, behind the three-hit pitching of Ernie Condon at Post field.

The triumph was the 19th in 22 decisions for Manager Jimmy Dunn's tossers and gave them a three-game bulge over the Sports Shoppe with two games left to play in the regular season.

Condon whiffed six and walked but two batters in notching his seventh mound triumph for the Old Germans. Rich Smith, the losing pitcher, touched Condon for a double which resulted in Sports Shoppe's only run in the second.

Fay Often, George Bishields, Condon and Al Largent each had a double while Bishields belted a homer and Largent a triple to pace the Old Germans attack.

The Old Exports tied Snyder's Grocery for third place with a 14-3 triumph over last-place Potomac Edison with Neil Toey tossing an eight-hitter for the win at East Side field.

Jim Seeders smashed a grand-slam home run to cap a nine-run explosion for Old Exports in the first inning. Reed Clingerman hit a double and two singles and Dick Peck belted a homer and a two-bagger for the winners. Walker, Rice and Crone had a pair of hits apiece for Potomac Edison. The results:

Skins Pick Backfield

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Washington Redskins will start a backfield of Norm Snead, Billy Barnes, Dick James and Don Bosseler against the Los Angeles Rams here Saturday night.

"Bobby Mitchell will get plenty of action but he won't start in our backfield," said Coach Bill McPeak.

Mitchell was obtained from the Cleveland Browns during the winter trading.

Dan Tigers Down Braves, 7-3, Gain Finals In Playoffs

Manager Val DeArcangelis' Tigers eliminated the Braves, 7-3, in the one-game semi-final playoffs in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday at Dapper Dan Field on Leiper Street.

The contest was completed yesterday from the fourth inning after being interrupted by rain on Monday. David Burke handled the reins of the Braves following the resignation of Manager Bert Lawler in protest of the ruling of the league baseball committee that the game be continued from the point of interruption instead of being replayed entirely as in accordance with the league's rules that were in effect during the season.

The Tigers, leading 3-0 when the game was restarted yesterday, added four runs in the last two innings to offset a three-run rally by the Braves in the sixth.

Glenn Cross went the distance on a three-hitter for the Tigers to best loser Pat McLean.

Tommy Green banged out three hits for the Tigers while Cross had a double and a single and Mervin Uhl belted a triple and a home run. Joe Burkey garnered two singles for the losers.

Ricky Scaletta of the Tigers and Kevin Friend of the Braves excelled at shortstop in the "sudden death" playoff.

The triumph enables the Tigers to gain the best-of-three finals against the Indians who triumphed 1-0 over the Dodgers on Tuesday in the other semi-final contest. The winner of the Tigers-Indians playoff will meet the Dapper Division champion for the league title. The results:

Tigers	210 022—7 9 0

Glenn Cross and Fred Hamilton. Pat McLean and Joe Simpson.
HR—Mervin Uhl (Tigers).

Dapper Yankees Win Playoff As Phillies Forfeit

The Yankees were awarded a forfeit victory over the Phillies yesterday in the one-game semi-final playoff in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League at Constitution Park.

The contest was ordered played from the point of interruption after rains had stopped the game in the fourth inning on Monday with the Yankees leading 6-2.

Co-managers Howard "Farmer" Northcraft and Lloyd "Pete" Deremer of the Phillies resigned yesterday in protest to the league's baseball committee ruling on the replaying of the contest, claiming that the order to resume play in the fourth inning instead of starting over was in direct conflict to the rules which the league had played under during the season.

The Phillies players were on hand for yesterday's game, but were unable to take the field without a manager and were forced to forfeit the decision which eliminated them from the playoffs.

Rick Renotas was on the mound for the Yankees and had held the Phillies to two hits until the fourth when Randy Natale hit a two-run homer. Renotas and Mike Gray collected two hits apiece and Bill Pratt hit a two-run triple for the Yankees who garnered 10 hits before the rain stopped play on Monday.

Tommy McGeady started on the hill for the Phillies on Monday and was relieved by Gary Perkins in the first when the Yankees scored all their runs.

The Yankees victory puts them in the division's best-of-three final playoffs against the pennant-winning Cardinals who defeated the Giants Tuesday, 17-5.

Play Saturday

HERSHEY, Pa., (AP) — Two of the National Football League's finest quarterbacks take the big test here Saturday when the Philadelphia Eagles and Baltimore Colts open their National Football League exhibition season.

Reports from both training camps—the Eagles here and the Colts at Westminster, Md.—have been glowing on the performances of Sonny Jurgensen and Johnny Unitas. Both are throwing the ball as well as ever, they say, giving both clubs that title-contending look.

Play Saturday

HERSHEY, Pa., (AP) — Two of the National Football League's finest quarterbacks take the big test here Saturday when the Philadelphia Eagles and Baltimore Colts open their National Football League exhibition season.

Reports from both training camps—the Eagles here and the Colts at Westminster, Md.—have been glowing on the performances of Sonny Jurgensen and Johnny Unitas. Both are throwing the ball as well as ever, they say, giving both clubs that title-contending look.

1961 Ford Galaxie 2-door

A near perfect car with especially low mileage. An outstanding color combination, Aqua body with white top. The door and side panels are of long-lasting vinyl. The seats are nylon and vinyl all in harmonizing colors. Deep carpets complete a luxury interior. White side wall tires like new, smooth V-8 engine with cruise-o-matic transmission makes driving a pleasure. Of course there is a heater, radio, outside mirror and many small accessories. This is the next thing to a brand new car for. . . .

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Over 600 established dealers in U. S. at present.

As an owner-operator, manual labor is required. As owner-investor, we assist you in hiring and training your operator. We are now selecting men to start their own business in July and August. SRC To Set Up Testing Lab

The State Roads Commission is locating in Hancock a regional laboratory for testing soil and materials in connection with highway construction projects.

The laboratory will serve Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties where many new road construction jobs are underway.

William Jabine, information officer of the SRC in Baltimore, said it will mean saving time in shipment of materials. Prior to this time, the tests were done in the Baltimore laboratory.

About ten persons will be employed in Hancock.

SRC To Set Up Testing Lab

The State Roads Commission is locating in Hancock a regional laboratory for testing soil and materials in connection with highway construction projects.

The laboratory will serve Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties where many new road construction jobs are underway.

William Jabine, information officer of the SRC in Baltimore, said it will mean saving time in shipment of materials. Prior to this time, the tests were done in the Baltimore laboratory.

About ten persons will be employed in Hancock.

American vessels must pay tolls to navigate the Panama Canal just as do ships of any other nation.

Virginia Man Electrocuted At Luke Mill

Victim Was Painting Near Substation

A 37-year-old Roanoke, Va., man was electrocuted yesterday afternoon when he came in contact with a high voltage line while painting in an electrical substation at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The victim, Elmer Lee Lotts, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Paul R. Wilson of Piedmont, W. Va. The accident occurred about 4:30 p.m.

Officials of the mill said Mr. Lotts, an employe of the Electrical Industrial Maintenance Company, Salem, Va., was fatally injured while painting some structural steel in an electrical substation.

This was the second week Mr. Lotts had been working at the Luke mill and he was engaged in work in the pump mill section when the accident occurred.

An official at the mill said the Virginia firm which employed Mr. Lotts had contracted to do some work around the electrical equipment at Luke.

Mr. Lotts had been staying at St. Ann's Hotel in Piedmont while working at the Luke mill.

His body was taken to the Boal Funeral Home in Westernport, and today will be taken to the Lotz Funeral Home in Roanoke.

City Ends Year With Surplus Of $236,422

Tax Collections Are $68,787 Over

The City of Cumberland ended the 1961-1962 fiscal year on June 30 with a surplus of $236,422.79, according to final figures prepared yesterday by Arthur B. Gibson, city financial consultant.

The so-called surplus will be used to form a base for the budget which will be set soon, and will be enough to tide the city over until taxes begin rolling in next month.

Mr. Gibson said the surplus includes excess collections totaling $101,843.11 and unexpended appropriations of $134,579.68.

The surplus is slightly less than the $239,000 which was on hand to prime last year's fiscal pump.

Tax Levy Over

The major source of excess collections was the tax levy, which brought in $68,787.23 more than the $1,289,080 tax levy.

The next best source was the city's share of state income tax collections, which went $22,964.21 over the $80,000 anticipated from the revenue source, and state gas and auto taxes brought in $6,896.25 more than was included in the levy.

Two of the Sherbow fund sources — state auto license fees and state racing income — were down, the first by $6,541.75 and the second by $2,876.04.

Sewer service charges, made to meet the cost of operating the sewage treatment plant and maintenance of sanitary sewers throughout the city, brought in $17,432.53 more than the $250,000 levy from this source. Another $9,137.50 was unexpended from the $250,000 appropriated for the Sewage Treatment and Sanitary Sewers account. None of this money can be used for the general fund, however, as the plant was financed under what amounts to a revenue bond plan.

The same is true for Water Department revenues, which are pledged to meet operating costs and to retire the water debt.

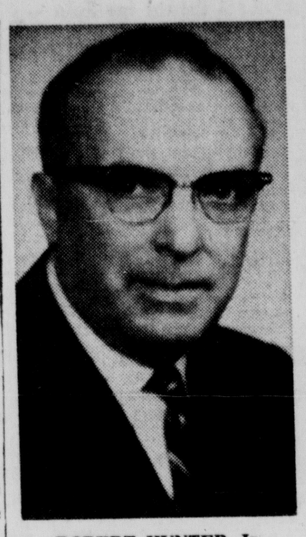
Will Aid Budget

Unexpended appropriattions totaling $134,579.68 are, as usual, a significant part of the surplus.

The major source was the Street and Alley Paving appropriation, which ended the year with $36,430.52 of unexpended funds.

Other major contributors were the Contingent fund, which had $35,561.09 left, and City Planning, which had $11,073.79 of unused funds as the year ended.

Most operating departments kept within their budgets, and overdrawn accounts totaled only $2,561.88.



ROBERT HUNTER Jr.

WALTER E. DYCK

Dyck, Hunter To Head CUF Golden Gifts Unit

The appointment of co-chairmen to spearhead the Golden Gifts Division of the 1962 County United Fund drive has been made by Alvin H. Wilson, general campaign chairman.

Accepting appointments by Mr. Wilson were Walter E. Dyck, plant manager of Works 7, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, and Robert Hunter Jr., procurement administrator for Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Mr. Wilson commented that with their capabilities, the Golden Gifts Divison is almost a certainty to give the campaign a boost in reaching its goal of $406,067.

Mr. Dyck is no newcomer to Golden Gifts work, as last year he team with William H. Oburn as co-chairman of a successful drive.

Mr. Hunter said he is confident that the Golden Gifts drive this year will be even more successful. "I say that with sufficient reason, because each of the campaign divisions has shown increased support by the citizenry of Allegany and Mineral counties and Golden Gifts is no exception."

Both agreed that "Golden Gifts," whether they be contributed by corporations or by individuals, will provide many of the less fortunate with "gifts of gold."

A Golden Gift to the Big Givers' organization is a contribution of $100 or more, either by the individual or by the corporation.

Mr. Dyck suggested that a "Golden Gift," when given the United Way, makes possible more services for more people at less cost. "It has been proven that administrative and campaign costs are drastically reduced in a United effort, which means that penny for penny, dollar for dollar, CUF contributions go the farthest in meeting the health, social service and youth needs of Allegany and Mineral counties."

Man Is Fined For Assault In Wood Dispute

Somerset Trucker Struck By Rock

A 22-year-old Avilton man yesterday was fined $50 in Trial Magistrate Court on an assault charge arising from a pulpwood boycott against the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Magistrate Paul W. Barnett fined Ellis Charles Crowe Jr. after finding him guilty of hitting Robert G. Shaulis, 23, of Somerset, Pa., with a rock on May 17.

The incident occurred on Big Savage Mountain as Shaulis was descending the mountain in his truck with a load of pulpwood for the Luke paper mill.

Tells Of Incident

Shaulis testified yesterday that Crowe had tried to flag him down near the top of the mountain, but he continued on. When he reached another point on U. S. Route 40, where trucks are required to stop, three men came out from behind a pile of cinders and Crowe threw a rock through the right side of the cab of the truck.

Shaulis said the rock struck him on the right side of the head, but he continued down the mountain. As he was headed down State Route 36 he saw Tfc. Bernard J. Chabot of the State Police and told him of the incident.

Tfc. Chabot told the court Shaulis did have a cut on the side of the head but that he continued on to the paper mill. Several days later Tfc. Chabot took Shaulis to the Crowe residence where the Avilton man was identified by Shaulis as the one who threw the rock.

Denies Assault

Crowe told the court he did try to stop the truck on the mountain, but said he went home when Shaulis failed to stop. He said his reason for wanting the truck to stop was so he could ask Shaulis to join the Tri-State Pulpwood Cooperative Association which was boycotting the paper mill. He denied throwing the rock.

Deputy State's Attorney Donald W. Mason prosecuted the case and Crowe was represented by Louis A. Fatkin.

The 65-day boycott by the pulpwood association ended June 2 when members of the association voted a temporary recess.

During the boycott, several tru During the boycott, several trucks were dynamited in Grantsville, Bedford County, Pa., and in Hampshire County, W. Va. The association said it had no part in these incidents.

Shopping Area Property Deed Filed In Court

A deed to property sold for about $350,000 located on Winchester Road between U. S. Route 220 and Vocke Road where a huge shopping center is now under construction was filed yesterday in the land records office of the Allegany County Court House.

The property was purchased from the Cumberland Shopping Centre Inc. by Leo Goodwin Jr. of Bethesda, and stamps affixed to the deed indicate the land was purchased for about $350,000.

The parcel of land is located on the southwest side of Maryland Route 53 (Winchester Road) and west of its junction with Vocke Road, and is about six miles west of Cumberland.

Earlier this year ground was broken for the construction of the new shopping center which will include a new Sears, Roebuck and Company store, the first "full-line" department store built by the merchandising firm in the tri-state are for many years.

Searstown will occupy a key sector of the 25-acre site which will furnish about 1,500 parking spaces for the driving customer.

The shopping center will house 39 separate stores in the approximately 250,000 square feet of available space with the Sears firm occupying nearly 90,000 square feet of store area.

The shopping center was designed by Anthony Musolino, Washington architect.

In 1956 the Cumberland Shopping Center Inc. purchased the land from the Market Buildings Inc. formed by John Stewart and Owen Hitchins.

City Agrees To Plan For Scale Repair

Agreement on the rehabilitation of the city's scale was reached at a meeting in City Hall yesterday between city officials and the head of the firm which supplied the device.

During the conference with Mayor Earl D. Chaney, City Solicitor Hugh A. McMullen and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, Aaron Yochelson, president of the Washington Scale and Equipment Company, proposed:

That the company will remove the dial cabinet from the scale, repair it and replace it at a cost to the city of $250, due in six months.

City officials were told that if the dial does not function properly during the six-month period, the city will be absolved of the repair charge.

The company also agreed to give the city a one-year warranty and, if the dial should fail during the year, the firm will replace the dial cabinet with a type registering beam at no cost to the city, and the $250 paid for repair would be refunded.

City officials said the dial system on the scale has been out of order and has not worked satisfactorily since it was installed about two years ago.

Medical Assistance Needs Of Counties Under Study

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Fiscal Research Bureau is engaged in a study to determine to what extent the residents of Baltimore City and the 23 counties need medical assistance.

The bureau, headed by John S. Shriver, plans to recommend revision of the present formula for distributing aid to local public health departments.

At present, state and federal assistance is distributed essentially on the basis of the subdivisions' population.

Shriver said this formula is inadequate because the population of a prosperous county such as Montgomery entitles it to a large share, although less populated and less prosperous counties are more needful.

"I believe that differences in population characteristics result in differences in need," Shriver said. "The total population of a subdivision does not necessarily indicate its need for state aid."

Shriver said questionnaires soon will be mailed to local health departments. The answers will be used to prepare a yardstick for distributing state and federal aid through the State Health Department.

Shriver said he is hopeful that statistics on the income and age distribution will indicate a subdivision's need for medical said.

The fiscal research director expects to complete his study in time to recommend a revised formula to the 1963 legislature.

ARTHUR P. FEATHER

Arthur Feather Named To New Luke Position

Promotion of Arthur P. Feather to the newly created position of director of finishing services for West Virginia Pulp and Paper's Fine Papers Division has been announced by William M. Thompson, Luke mill production manager.

He has been superintendent of finishing at the company's Mechanicville, N. Y., mill.

Mr. Feather's responsibilities will include the division mills at Mechanicville, N. Y.; Tyrone and Williamsburg, Pa.; and Luke. He will carry out his new duties from the Luke mill.

In announcing the transfer and promotion, Mr. Thompson stated that the position was created to permit the mills of the Fine Paper Division to take greater advantage of the rapidly expanding technology in the various converting fields.

Mr. Feather will start his new duties immediately and will be responsible for recommending new methods and procedures for all four finishing operations of the division. He will gather information on the latest equipment and techniques for processing, packaging, and loading, with particular emphasis in the cutting and finishing areas. He will evaluate, report, and assist in initiating those methods which will be most helpful to the company's finishing operations.

Mr. Feather started with West Virginia at the Mechanicville, N. Y., mill on July 1, 1948, immediately after receiving his degree in chemical engineering from Rensselser Polytechnic Institute. Since that time he has held positions of increasing responsibility at Mechanicville, including foreman of the soda mill, technical assistant to the pulp mill superintendent, technical assistant to the paper mill superintendent, and his most recent position of superintendent of finishing.

Mr. Feather, his wife and four sons will be moving to the Luke area soon.

Two arts and craft classes have been held each week at most city playgrounds and Mrs. Marian Wilson, arts and crafts instructor, taught some new phase of craft work at meetings of leaders each Wednesday.

City Ends Year With Surplus Of $236,422

Tax Collections Are $68,787 Over

The City of Cumberland ended the 1961-1962 fiscal year on June 30 with a surplus of $236,422.79, according to final figures prepared yesterday by Arthur B. Gibson, city financial consultant.

The so-called surplus will be used to form a base for the budget which will be set soon, and will be enough to tide the city over until taxes begin rolling in next month.

Mr. Gibson said the surplus includes excess collections totaling $101,843.11 and unexpended appropriations of $134,579.68.

The surplus is slightly less than the $239,000 which was on hand to prime last year's fiscal pump.

Tax Levy Over

The major source of excess collections was the tax levy, which brought in $68,787.23 more than the $1,289,080 tax levy.

The next best source was the city's share of state income tax collections, which went $22,964.21 over the $80,000 anticipated from the revenue source, and state gas and auto taxes brought in $6,896.25 more than was included in the levy.

Two of the Sherbow fund sources — state auto license fees and state racing income — were down, the first by $6,541.75 and the second by $2,876.04.

Sewer service charges, made to meet the cost of operating the sewage treatment plant and maintenance of sanitary sewers throughout the city, brought in $17,432.53 more than the $250,000 levy from this source. Another $9,137.50 was unexpended from the $250,000 appropriated for the Sewage Treatment and Sanitary Sewers account. None of this money can be used for the general fund, however, as the plant was financed under what amounts to a revenue bond plan.

The same is true for Water Department revenues, which are pledged to meet operating costs and to retire the water debt.

Will Aid Budget

Unexpended appropriattions totaling $134,579.68 are, as usual, a significant part of the surplus.

The major source was the Street and Alley Paving appropriation, which ended the year with $36,430.52 of unexpended funds.

Other major contributors were the Contingent fund, which had $35,561.09 left, and City Planning, which had $11,073.79 of unused funds as the year ended.

Most operating departments kept within their budgets, and overdrawn accounts totaled only $2,561.88.

ROBERT HUNTER Jr.

WALTER E. DYCK

Dyck, Hunter To Head CUF Golden Gifts Unit

The appointment of co-chairmen to spearhead the Golden Gifts Division of the 1962 County United Fund drive has been made by Alvin H. Wilson, general campaign chairman.

Accepting appointments by Mr. Wilson were Walter E. Dyck, plant manager of Works 7, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, and Robert Hunter Jr., procurement administrator for Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Mr. Wilson commented that with their capabilities, the Golden Gifts Divison is almost a certainty to give the campaign a boost in reaching its goal of $406,067.

Mr. Dyck is no newcomer to Golden Gifts work, as last year he team with William H. Oburn as co-chairman of a successful drive.

Mr. Hunter said he is confident that the Golden Gifts drive this year will be even more successful. "I say that with sufficient reason, because each of the campaign divisions has shown increased support by the citizenry of Allegany and Mineral counties and Golden Gifts is no exception."

Both agreed that "Golden Gifts," whether they be contributed by corporations or by individuals, will provide many of the less fortunate with "gifts of gold."

A Golden Gift to the Big Givers' organization is a contribution of $100 or more, either by the individual or by the corporation.

Mr. Dyck suggested that a "Golden Gift," when given the United Way, makes possible more services for more people at less cost. "It has been proven that administrative and campaign costs are drastically reduced in a United effort, which means that penny for penny, dollar for dollar, CUF contributions go the farthest in meeting the health, social service and youth needs of Allegany and Mineral counties."

City Agrees To Plan For Scale Repair

Agreement on the rehabilitation of the city's scale was reached at a meeting in City Hall yesterday between city officials and the head of the firm which supplied the device.

During the conference with Mayor Earl D. Chaney, City Solicitor Hugh A. McMullen and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, Aaron Yochelson, president of the Washington Scale and Equipment Company, proposed:

That the company will remove the dial cabinet from the scale, repair it and replace it at a cost to the city of $250, due in six months.

City officials were told that if the dial does not function properly during the six-month period, the city will be absolved of the repair charge.

The company also agreed to give the city a one-year warranty and, if the dial should fail during the year, the firm will replace the dial cabinet with a type registering beam at no cost to the city, and the $250 paid for repair would be refunded.

City officials said the dial system on the scale has been out of order and has not worked satisfactorily since it was installed about two years ago.

The proposal was accepted according to Mayor Chaney, who said, "You can't ask any more than that."

Medical Assistance Needs Of Counties Under Study

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Fiscal Research Bureau is engaged in a study to determine to what extent the residents of Baltimore City and the 23 counties need medical assistance.

The bureau, headed by John S. Shriver, plans to recommend revision of the present formula for distributing aid to local public health departments.

At present, state and federal assistance is distributed essentially on the basis of the subdivisions' population.

Shriver said this formula is inadequate because the population of a prosperous county such as Montgomery entitles it to a large share, although less populated and less prosperous counties are more needful.

"I believe that differences in population characteristics result in differences in need," Shriver said. "The total population of a subdivision does not necessarily indicate its need for state aid."

Shriver said questionnaires soon will be mailed to local health departments. The answers will be used to prepare a yardstick for distributing state and federal aid through the State Health Department.

Shriver said he is hopeful that statistics on the income and age distribution will indicate a subdivision's need for medical said.

The fiscal research director expects to complete his study in time to recommend a revised formula to the 1963 legislature.

Man Is Fined For Assault In Wood Dispute

Somerset Trucker Struck By Rock

A 22-year-old Avilton man yesterday was fined $50 in Trial Magistrate Court on an assault charge arising from a pulpwood boycott against the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Magistrate Paul W. Barnett fined Ellis Charles Crowe Jr. after finding him guilty of hitting Robert G. Shaulis, 23, of Somerset, Pa., with a rock on May 17.

The incident occurred on Big Savage Mountain as Shaulis was descending the mountain in his truck with a load of pulpwood for the Luke paper mill.

Tells Of Incident

Shaulis testified yesterday that Crowe had tried to flag him down near the top of the mountain, but he continued on. When he reached another point on U. S. Route 40, where trucks are required to stop, three men came out from behind a pile of cinders and Crowe threw a rock through the right side of the cab of the truck.

Shaulis said the rock struck him on the right side of the head, but he continued down the mountain. As he was headed down State Route 36 he saw Tfc. Bernard J. Chabot of the State Police and told him of the incident.

Tfc. Chabot told the court Shaulis did have a cut on the side of the head but that he continued on to the paper mill. Several days later Tfc. Chabot took Shaulis to the Crowe residence where the Avilton man was identified by Shaulis as the one who threw the rock.

Denies Assault

Crowe told the court he did try to stop the truck on the mountain, but said he went home when Shaulis failed to stop. He said his reason for wanting the truck to stop was so he could ask Shaulis to join the Tri-State Pulpwood Cooperative Association which was boycotting the paper mill. He denied throwing the rock.

Deputy State's Attorney Donald W. Mason prosecuted the case and Crowe was represented by Louis A. Fatkin.

The 65-day boycott by the pulpwood association ended June 2 when members of the association voted a temporary recess.

During the boycott, several tru

During the boycott, several trucks were dynamited in Grantsville, Bedford County, Pa., and in Hampshire County, W. Va. The association said it had no part in these incidents.
